Another Unhappy Chapter for United Nations

If many U.S. citizens are unhappy with the whole United Nations idea their feeling was further stimulated by what happened Aug. 28.

On that date a UN Committee on Colonialism brought in a report declaring Puerto Rico has a right to be independent from the United States. This, however, was an action by only a committee of 23—and 10 of them abstained from voting—and the 133-member General Assembly is still to be heard from.

Nevertheless it is another example showing that the United Nations' capacity is greater for stirring up mischief than for achieving world peace. Our country objected to the committee report on the grounds it was interference with our domestic affairs, but the objection fell on deaf ears.

No American covets Puerto Rico or considers it a colony. As a small but close neighbor it needs our protection. The Communist nations smoked up the report for independence for obvious reasons; if Puerto Rico were independent the Reds hopefully think they might get a foot in the door to that country and eventually take over. This was the pattern in Cuba, and the Reds are ever alert for similar adventures on islands close enough to us to pose a threat to our national security.

The impudence of the UN committee report is clear when you recall that as far back as 1967 we gave Puerto Rico a chance to vote on whether to remain a U.S. Commonwealth or become independent—and she chose by nearly two to one to continue as a Commonwealth.

We subscribe to the idea that the UN performs a useful service in being the sounding board where the whole world pops off and thereby diminishes in some small way the likelihood of war. But the UN is forever meddling in peaceful zones while dodging its responsibilities in areas of real trouble.

And the United States is tiring of this House of Babel to which we contribute one-third of the budget. The Nixon administration just the other day suggested we ought to cut our share down to a quarter.

That's the day you'll hear a chorus of Amens.

Two are injured

Two persons were injured in a two vehicle accident at 5:05 p.m. Thursday at the intersection of Highway 32 and Highway 4 north of Hope, according to State Trooper Harvey Fullerton.

A vehicle driven by Mrs. W. C. Bruner, 75, of Hope, had stopped at a stop sign on highway 32 before entering highway 4, Fullerton said. The Bruner vehicle then pulled into the path of a half ton pickup truck traveling north driven by Charles Butler of Rt. 1, Hope, he said. The truck, carrying three passengers, collided with the Bruner vehicle injuring Mrs. Bruner and W. C. Bruner, Sr., 78. David Applegate, 9, of Rt. 1 Hope, a passenger in the truck, was slightly injured. Both Mr. and Mrs. Bruner and Applegate were taken to Hempstead County Memorial Hospital.

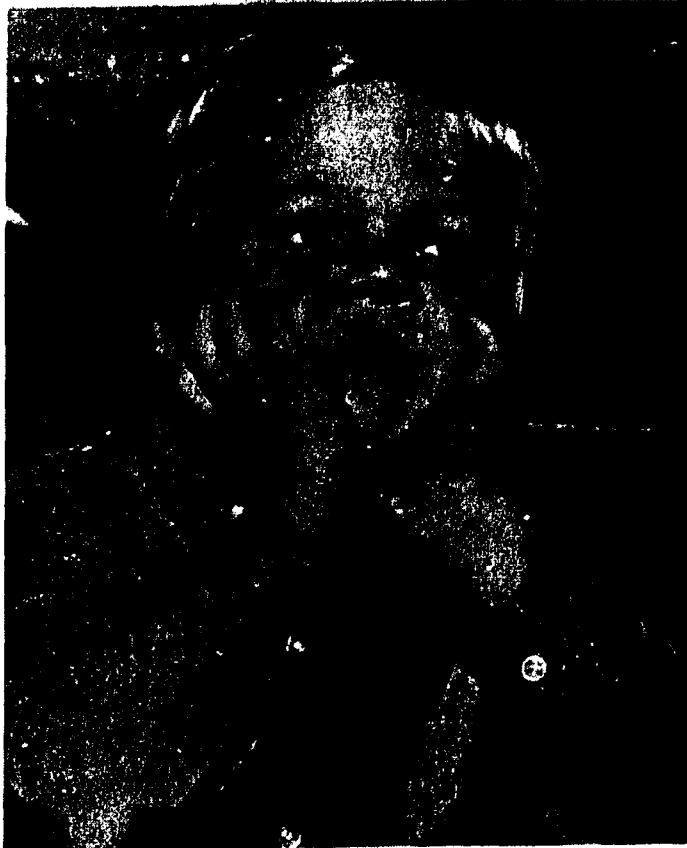

Mr. and Mrs. Bruner are listed in satisfactory condition, a hospital spokesman said; Applegate was treated for minor injuries and released. No charges have been filed.

Fischer is new champ!

REYKJAVIK, Iceland (AP)—American challenger Bobby Fischer won the world chess championship today when Boris Spassky of Russia telephoned his resignation in the 21st game, which had been adjourned overnight.

Max Euwe, president of the International Chess Federation, said Spassky had telephoned Lothar Schmid, match referee, shortly before the game was to resume with Spassky in a probable losing position.

It is the first time an American has ever held the title, although Paul Charles Morphy of New Orleans, who lived from 1837 to 1884, dominated play in the 1850s and came to be known as unofficial world champion.

The title match here had a limit of 24 games. Today's victory gave Fischer 12½ points to Spassky's 8½. Fischer won seven games, each worth a point. Spassky took three, including a forfeit—thus he actually won only one out of 10 games at the playing board. Each of 11 draws was worth half a point to each contestant.

Fischer, who is 29, is from Brooklyn. He stood to win $156,000 in prize money, counting a bonus put up by a British fan. He will reap further thousands in book royalties and other fees before he has to defend his title in 1976.

Spassky, who is 35, is to receive about $100,000 as runner-up. He had won the title in 1969 from Tigran Petrosian, a fellow Russian—indeed Russians have almost monopolized title play most of this century.

Fischer arrived at the playing hall 15 minutes late after Euwe ruled that he would have to appear to claim the title.

Then Schmid stepped forward and declared him the new champion.

Second break-in at Demo headquarters suspected as investigation continues

MIAMI (AP) — State Atty. Richard Gerstein of Miami says the testimony of a photographer points to a second break-in of the Democratic National Headquarters where correspondence between party leaders was secretly filmed.

Gerstein said Thursday that a Miami commercial photographer had testified he developed prints of what appeared to be hand-written letters between Democratic leaders one week before five men were arrested inside the party's headquarters at the Watergate complex in Washington, D.C.

Photographer Michael Richardson identified the men who paid him for the "special rush job" on June 10 as former CIA agent Bernard L. Barker and Frank Sturgis. Both were charged with the June 17 break-in at the Watergate, Gerstein said.

"The only conclusion you can reasonably draw is there was another break-in at the Watergate or somewhere else where these people came into possession of documents they shouldn't have had," said Gerstein, a Democrat who is running for re-election this fall.

Gerstein said his investigation of the Watergate affair is "continuing," but declined to say if formal charges would be filed. He said the probe was "totally nonpolitical."

Richardson was subpoenaed by Gerstein and gave a sworn statement last week. Gerstein said the 29-year-old photographer passed a 2½-hour lie detector test Thursday "with flying colors."

However, the state attorney refused to say how Richardson's story came to his attention. Martin Dardis, Gerstein's chief investigator, said "only that Richardson's role came to light with a tip from an unidentified third party."

In his statement, Richardson said Barker and Sturgis came to his father's firm, Rich Photos, on June 10. He said the two men described the photographs as "legal documents and notes, stuff like that."

But Richardson said when he began to develop the 8x10 prints, he started to suspect "some sort of hanky-panky."

The commercial photographer told investigators the 38 pictures from two rolls of 35mm film showed what appeared to be personal correspondence between Lawrence F. O'Brien, then chairman of the Democratic National Committee, and other Democratic leaders. He said many of the letters were signed simply, "Larry."

Richardson testified he first thought the onion-skin copies were being held by "deformed hands" on a "deep shag rug" background. He said he later realized that the hands actually were ill-fitting surgical gloves.

Richardson said when he finished the job, "they were happy with the results ... seems like they said somebody was going to be happy to see them."

Barker paid him $93.30 for the prints, including a $10 tip, Richardson said. He added he thought little else about the incident until June 19 when he saw Barker's picture in a newspaper identifying Barker as a suspect in the Watergate break-in.

Nixon, Tanaka to attempt to ease plight of dollar

HONOLULU (AP) — President Nixon and Japanese Prime Minister Kakuei Tanaka wind up their mid-Pacific summit today, reaching accord on a one-shot Japanese effort to ease the plight of the dollar.

The agreement, to be spelled out in a joint communique, envisions Japanese orders for an extra $1 billion-plus of American goods, with the bulk to be paid for in advance.

American officials had hoped to leave Honolulu with a similarly specific meeting of the minds on longer-range solutions to a chronic and growing deficit in U.S. trade dealings with Japan. Such matters, however, are being left largely to future negotiations.

Nixon and Tanaka were said to have spent a third of their time in private talks Thursday discussing trade matters. Sitting in on their initial discussion were Henry A. Kissinger, the President's foreign policy adviser, and Nobuhiko Ushiba, Japan's ambassador to Washington.

While they met at the Kuliima hotel on Oahu's north shore, Secretary of State William P. Rogers and Japanese Foreign Minister Masayoshi Ohira presided at a companion conference of other officials from the two countries. They were joined for an hour by Nixon and Tanaka before all summit participants took a break prior to an evening working dinner at the hotel.

After a final meeting and issuance of the communique, Nixon flies back to his San Clemente, Calif., home Friday night.

Arkansas' Possum Trot Line closing

(NOTE: The announcement of the closing of the Possum Trot line is the end of an era in railroading. Today The Star publishes a news story on its evident demise, and Wednesday plans to present a two-page spread on the last days of the Reader Railroad.)

"Yeah, it's too bad," the man at the Reader Depot said. "It's just too bad. But that's the way the smoke curls."

Smoke curls? Yep, smoke curls. The conversation was about the announced closing of the Reader Railroad, the old Possum Trot Line located near Hope—the last steam-powered passenger carrier in the United States.

T. W. M. Long of Shreveport, the president of Possum Trot Line announced Thursday that all efforts to sell the line had failed and that he had mailed to the Interstate Commerce Commission a petition to scrap the line.

Long said in a news release that he had no prospects of selling the railroad and its funds "are totally exhausted." He said it had operated only two or three years "in the black" during the 16 years he operated it.

The proposed closing of the Berry Petroleum Company's asphalt plant at Waterloo, which was the Possum Trot's last shipper, was the death blow, Long said.

Since 1963 the Possum Trot has run tourist trips over its 23-mile line from Reader at the northwestern tip of Ouachita County south through the bottom lands to Waterloo in neighboring Nevada County.

The excursion now runs on Friday and Saturday. These runs will cease also when permission is received.

The Reader Railroad dates from 1907 and grew out of a logging road built that year. In 1925 it became a common carrier between Reader and Waterloo.

The Reader Railroad has three steam locomotives, which make its equipment unique since diesel engines made the old "iron horses" obsolete. In addition to its freight hauling equipment, it owns four passenger cars and a caboose.

Blaylock is for channelization of Cache River

JONESBORO, Ark. (AP) — Republican gubernatorial candidate Len E. Blaylock endorsed channelization of the Cache River and Bayou De View Thursday, calling the Army Engineers' project "the only plan to restore some of the sport fishing to the river."

Nothing he had hunted and fished in the area in past years, Blaylock said he recently inspected the river and found it different from the way he used to know it.

He said the stream is muddy, laden with silt, and contains chemicals and pesticide residues that have "all but decimated" the fish population.

The project draws a line between preservation of what remains of the river and "complete obliteration of the wildlife areas in the Cache River bottoms," Blaylock said.

He said the Army Engineers project has become "a meaningful program of conservation."

If elected, Blaylock said he would "immediately contact all interested agencies and parties and ask that all phases of the project be implemented without delay."

Democratic nominee for re-election in the November balloting, has urged Army Engineers to halt work on the project until money to buy land for wildlife habitat is assured.

Blaylock said he believed Bumpers was taking the stand he felt was most popular in the state.

The GOP nominee said he was confident that Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark., and Rep. Bill Alexander, D-Ark., would be able to wring the money out of Congress for mitigation land and no delay in the work was needed.

Asked what his position would be if mitigation land could not be obtained, Blaylock said he still would favor completion of the project.

The nominee said 2,000 agricultural drainage ditches flow into the river along with 3,000 highway and roadway drainage ditches. He said these have dumped chemicals and pesticides into the stream to the detriment of fish.

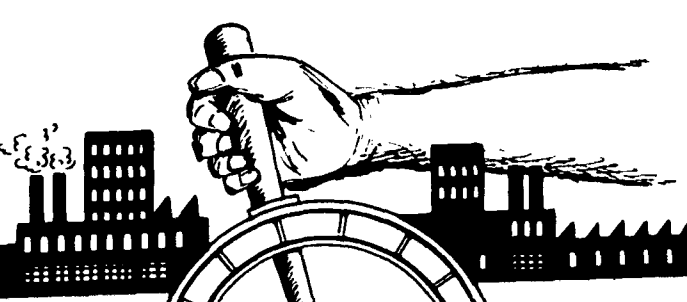

Blaylock said that a "very conservative estimate" was that 30,000 acres of timberland were leveled last year, leaving about 110,000 acres of timber around the Cache.

The remaining timber could be bulldozed within three years, he said.

"It should be noted that this timber removal is not part of the project," he said.

Blaylock said he would like to see low-interest loans made available to groups interested in buying Cache River timber easements, provided they consign the timber for use permanently as a timber and wildlife sanctuary.

Firemen learning about 'salvage and overhaul'

Elmo Anderson of the Department of Fire Service Technology, Southwest Technical Institute, addressed area firemen Thursday evening during a session of the 19th annual regional fire school now in progress at the Hope fire station.

Firemen from surrounding towns; Texarkana, Foreman, Gurdon, Prescott, Nashville, and Lewisville are attending the two-week school.

"Salvage and Overhaul" is the subject of this year's school. Emphasis is being made on leaving the scene of a fire in as good a condition as possible.

The Hope Fire Department has a total of 10 firemen and four volunteers. The ten firemen are: Jim Cobb, Fire Chief, Dorsey Huckabee, Joe Don Webb, Cecil Fought, Wendell Avery, Benton Fincher, Hansford Long, Herbert Griffin, Bob Martin, and Mack Morgan. Volunteer firemen include: Charlie Smith, T. J. Barber, James Luck, and Doyette Collins.

Since January 1, the department has answered a total of 106 fires, 64 of which were grass fires, 2 were car fires, 33 were out-of-town fires, two factory fires, and one electrical shock resulting in the death of a city employee.

Equipment of the department includes: a 1944 pumper with a 500 gallon per minute capacity with a new heavy duty industrial motor, a 1948 aerial ladder and pumper with a 65-ft. ladder, 750 g.p.m., and also has a new heavy duty industrial motor; 1960 2 1/2-ton pumper, 750 g.p.m. pump; 1966 tank wagon, with 1,000-gallon capacity tank and 750 g.p.m. pump; 1968 2 1/2-ton pumper, 750-g.p.m.

pump; and a 1969 station wagon.

The two-story fire station serves as a home away from home for the men. A fireman works a 24-hour shift. The firehouse has facilities for cooking, eating, and sleeping. The three man shift as well as the fire chief are on duty at all times. "Volunteer firemen answer all alarm fires, home and industrial fires, and this is when you hear the main siren sound," Chief Cobb stated.

"In out-of-town alarms," he explained, "there is a $30 charge for residential, and $100 for industrial calls. The reason for this," he explained, "is that property outside the city is not taxed to support the fire service, and on the whole can not pay for the equipment or man hours involved in answering a call."

Busing boycott called by group

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) 8 court-ordered busing for Memphis schools has been met by a promise to appeal the decision to the U.S. Supreme Court and a threat of a boycott by pupils if the plans is implemented. The city school board met in closed-door session Thursday afternoon and by a 6-2 vote agreed to appeal the 6th U.S. Circuit Court of appeals order Tuesday for busing of pupils "forthwith."

The court's decision upholds an earlier order by Judge Robert M. McRae Jr. of the U.S. District Court in Memphis.

Mrs. Francis Coe, school board chairman, said she made the motion to appeal the decision during the session, adding that most school board members had indicated prior to the meeting that they favored appealing.

Voting against the motion were two of the board's three black members — Mrs. Maxine Smith and Carl Johnson, Mrs. Coe said. The third black board member, George Brown, was not at the meeting.

Meanwhile, Mrs. Ruth Saed, a spokesman for the Citizens Against Busing, said after a Thursday night rally that the anti-busing group will urge pupils to remain home from school "when the court-ordered plan is put in effect or when any part of it is put into effect."

At the rally, attended by more than 3,500 persons, Ken Keele, chairman of the CAB board of directors, blasted Gov.

Winfield Dunn for failing to use the fullest extent of his power to prevent busing in Tennessee.

Keele announced earlier this week the CAB will file a brief in U.S. District Court in Memphis asking that a three-judge panel be appointed to decide on the constitutionality of busing.

Booth shot after eluding officers

MAGNOLIA, Ark. (AP) — An all-night manhunt that involved police in Arkansas and Louisiana for a man who "apparently delighted in taunting us," ended Thursday about six miles south of here when Sheriff Gordon Hunter of Columbia County shot Larry Booth, 22, of Magnolia.

Booth was wanted on several charges, most of them minor, police said, but included aggravated assault.

Bossier City, La., police said Booth sometimes telephoned them, told of his whereabouts, then eluded them over a period of several months.

Louisiana officials issued a call late Wednesday night that Booth had eluded pursuing policemen in Minden, La., and apparently was headed toward Magnolia.

Hunter said Booth escaped a roadblock in Minden and Haynesville. Shots apparently had been fired at Booth's car during the chase, the sheriff said, since buckshot holes were discovered in the car.

Columbia County police and State Police set up a roadblock on U. S. 79-South, but Booth turned off the highway when he spotted the flashing lights, Hunter said.

Pursued by three or four police cars from Louisiana as well as Magnolia authorities through rural areas, Booth somehow later made his way back to the U. S. 79-South roadblock near Brewster, where he disabled his car and fled on foot, armed with a shotgun and a pistol, Hunter said.

All Around Town

The Hope Municipal Swimming Pool will close for the year on September 2.

News has been received that Larry Williams, son of Mrs. Harold Williams and the late Mr. Williams, has been named music and youth director at Calvary Baptist Church in North Little Rock. Formerly associated with the Mt. Olive Baptist Church in Crossett, he began his new position August 20.

Local people have been featured in articles by Bob Lancaster in the Arkansas Gazette twice this week. William Carrigan of Washington was the subject on August 29, and three sisters—Mrs. Clyde Hill, Mrs. George Green, and Mrs. McRae Andrews—on August 30.

Thursday, August 31 was the last day for Mrs. Hubert Thrash to work as secretary at the First Baptist Church. She assumes bookkeeping duties at Tol-E-Tex Oil Company today (Friday).

Arkansas Game and Fish Technician, Gary Formby, reminds hunters that dove shooting hours on the Hope Wildlife management area are from one half hour before sunrise to 12 noon Sept. 1 through Oct. 15.

There will be a second meeting of persons interested in forming an auto club at City Hall, Saturday, at 3 p.m. in Hope. If you are interested in antique autos, sports cars, or unique-design vehicles, you are invited to attend. You do not have to own a car to join. Persons from surrounding areas are also invited.

Labor Day will be observed by the Postal Service on Monday, Sept. 4, 1972. There will be no city or rural delivery, but mail will be placed in Post Office Boxes as usual, and according to county judge's office the Court House will be closed also.

A sidewalk from Hope High School to Yerger Junior High was completed last year. This project eliminated the hazardous situation of students walking on the sides of the street or in the street.

Superintendent James H. Jones expressed his appreciation to students and parents for their cooperation last year and urges full cooperation this year for the safety of all concerned.

Mike Kelly, executive director, announces that the Housing Authority located at 720 Texas Street, will be closed Labor Day, September 4.

MRS. STEPHEN SHAW BEIGHT

Turner-Beight vows are solemnized in afternoon

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest E. Turner of Little Rock, formerly of Hope, announce the marriage of their daughter, Tina, to Stephen Shaw Beight, son of Oakley E. Beight of Ft. Worth, and Mrs. Walter Kenihan of North Little Rock. Vows were exchanged Saturday, August 26 in St. Luke United Methodist Church at Little Rock. Rev. Alfred DeBlack officiated. Mrs. Irene Forbes provided the nuptial music.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She chose a gown fashioned of white peau de sole and satin face organza. The gown was designed with a Gibson neckline, fitted waist and full A-line skirt. Chantilly lace highlighted the neckline, organza yoke and full length sleeves. Her veil of illusion was secured by a pearl Juliet head piece and she carried a Victorian nosegay of yellow sweetheart roses, marguerite daisies and baby's breath. Mrs. Suzanne Yancey, sister of the bride, of Altus, Oklahoma, was matron of honor and Miss LaRee Turner, sister of the bride was bridesmaid. Oakley E. Beight served his son as best man and Nathan Calhoun as groomsmen. Ushers were Danny Ray Turner of Hope and Jamie Kohls of Little Rock.

Claud Gardner is dinner party honoree

A dinner party to celebrate the birthday of Claud W. Gardner was given at the Hope Country Club on Tuesday, August 29. Daisies centered the serving table where the group of friends enjoyed the meal.

Covers were laid for Mr. and Mrs. B.W. Edwards, Alex H. Washburn, William Carrigan of Washington, Roy Anderson, Mrs. Thompson Evans, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Guy Watkins, Mrs. Bess Evans, and Mr. and Mrs. Garner.

HELEN HELP US!

by Helen Bottel

Perils of Playing with Fire

Dear Helen: I'm 22 and my husband is 27. We've been married nine years, so you can see I didn't live much before the wedding.

We have two children, six and two, a nice, well kept home and—this may seem hard to believe—we love each other more and more. We can talk openly and to the point on any subject without embarrassment.

Up to this year, we've spent time off mostly with the kids, having fun on picnics, etc. Now we've decided to give ourselves one day a week. We go dancing, have a few drinks with friends.

But there's this real good looking guy in our crowd. In a kidding way, I told my husband it would be fun to date him, as he turns me on. My husband said, "Okay, if we make it a double date." In other words swap mates for a night.

What started as kidding now sounds real tempting. It's kind of sad, to think you'll never know what another man (or girl) is like, just 'cause you're married. We've never been unfaithful, but I guess you wouldn't call it cheating if we all agreed.

What do you think? Could we trust each other? Would this lead to more swaps, and maybe a break-up? We don't want that! —TEMPTED AND BURNING

Dear T And B: I think mate-swapping omits the human element—somewhere along the line, one or the other of you will let emotions surface: jealousy, "love," disgust perhaps. Relationships seldom stay purely physical for long—and then the marriage problems start.

Remember back to your wedding vows, and ask yourself one more question: Is this "new thing" the kind of life I'd want for my children? —H.

Dear Helen: After the Tom Eagleton fiasco, I wonder how many people in high places will avoid psychiatric counseling—even if they need it badly to help them over a temporary depression? When disturbed people go untreated through fear of public opinion—it could mean we'll find a lot more disturbed people in command, and that's frightening. —OBSERVER

Dear Observer: That it is. Read on: I entered a psychiatric treatment center voluntarily because I felt my nerves were at the breaking point.

I learned a great deal about myself and consider the cure complete. But since coming out, I've learned even more about my fellow man.

The former mental patient isn't shunned. Rather, he's WATCHED. And while people hide their fear, he sees it. They "protect" him (by not giving him the promotions he has earned). They put a "handle with care" label on him. He must act twice as "normal" as anyone else in order to prove he's worth half as much as less competent men.

Psychiatric treatment speeded my return to mental health, but it may have brought me more problems than if I had pulled through my nervous breakdown by myself.

We still aren't out of the dark ages when it comes to illnesses of the mind. People never quite believe you can get over them. STALLED CAREER

No point count value is assigned to a 10-spot but don't despise those nice cards for that reason. On occasion a 10-spot will turn out to be worth a full trick.

It is a cinch for South to find a way to go down with today's four-spade contract. He wins the first "club," draws trumps; leads a heart to dummy's king; groans when East plunks on the ace; loses a second heart and a club and eventually sees East plunk the queen of diamonds on dummy's jack. It is even easier for South to insure this contract by taking full advantage of dummy's 10 of hearts.

He starts proceedings by playing dummy's jack of clubs. He lets East hold the trick with his queen. East returns a club. South wins; ruffs his last club in dummy; draws trumps and leads a heart.

If West plays low South plays dummy's 10. East wins with the queen and is helpless. If he cashes the ace of hearts it sets up dummy's king for a diamond discard; if he leads a diamond it takes care of the diamond finesse; a club lead gives South a ruff and discard.

MR. AND MRS. KENNETH E. ALLEN

Cathy McCorkle becomes bride of Kenneth Allen

Cathy Nell McCorkle and Kenneth Eugene Allen exchanged wedding vows Friday, August 4 in New Hope Baptist Church.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Cecil W. McCorkle and Mr. and Mrs. D.E. Allen, all of Hope.

The wedding music was presented by Miss Karen Allen, sister of the groom. Rev. W.E. O'Steen officiated the ceremony before two tall baskets of pink gladioli and greenery.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a white street length dress featuring an empire waistline and lace sleeves. She carried a cascade of pink and white feathered carnations.

Miss Cindy McCorkle sister of the bride, was maid of honor. She wore a pink dress and carried a bouquet of white carnations.

Michael Allen, brother of the groom, served as best man and Don Byers was usher.

The couple will reside in Hope until Mr. Allen enters the service of the United States.

El Paso in a tie
By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Lefthander Dennis James had a long struggle, but with the help of 16 strikeouts against San Antonio pitched El Paso into at least a tie for the Texas League West Division title Thursday night.

Paul Flesher hit a two-run triple in the top of the 12th inning, breaking a 1-1 tie that had existed since the third and giving James a 3-1 complete-game victory over the hapless Brewers. It was James' 11th victory in 14 decisions.

The El Paso victory, combined with Midland's 5-0 shutout over second-place Amarillo, clinched at least a tie for the Sun Dodgers, who have a 4½ game lead with four games left to Amarillo's five.

In the East, where Alexandria has already clinched a spot in the league championship, the Aces beat Shreveport 9-2 and Arkansas clipped Memphis 7-3 in other TL play.

Midland's Bob Maneely pitched a four-hitter and allowed no runner past first base in the last five innings, while Ron Dunn hit a solo homer to give the Cubs all the offense they needed against Amarillo.

Arkansas' Al Putz hit a homer and two singles for four RBI's in the Travelers victory over Memphis. Winning pitcher Steve Evans gave up only four hits.

Broyles is disappointed in Razorbacks

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — Arkansas Coach Frank Broyles expressed great disappointment in the Razorbacks' practice session Thursday.

"It was not just any one thing," he said. "It was the pass protection, the running, the fumbles. It was all disappointing."

The Porkers went through only one practice session Thursday.

"We're trying to force the enthusiasm and get more out of practice," Broyles said. "The offense seemed to do a little better. I hope the films prove it to be true."

Arkansas opens its season Sept. 9 in Little Rock against Southern California.

The Yanks are still in it!

By KEN RAPPOPORT
Associated Press Sports Writer

Fritz Peterson is as surprised as anybody, but here it is September and the New York Yankees are in a pennant race.

"I'm surprised all right, but now I think we've got a good chance to stay in it," says the Yankees' southpaw.

Believe, believe. The Yankees, not given much of a chance at the beginning and as much as eight games behind first place halfway through the American League season, are only 1½ games back as the result of Thursday's 7-0 victory over the Texas Rangers.

"Our pitching can straighten out, nobody has a sore arm," said Peterson after pitching the Yankees' fifth victory in six games with a five-hitter.

During the next 30 days, the Yankees play two series apiece with the three other bona fide contenders in the Eastern Division—Baltimore Orioles, Detroit Tigers and Boston Red Sox.

"Since we all play one another in September, I guess we can't all stay hot at the same time, can we?" said Peterson.

"We're going to be the ones, I have a feeling."

Two clubs are currently ahead of the Yankees. Baltimore, idle Thursday, took over first place by a half-game after California beat Detroit 4-0 and dropped the Tigers to second place. The Red Sox are behind the Yankees in fourth, two games off the pace.

In the other American League game, the Milwaukee Brewers defeated the Kansas City Royals 7-3. Only two games were played in the National League in an abbreviated schedule. The Houston Astros trimmed the Philadelphia Phillies 5-1 and the Los Angeles Dodgers turned back the Chicago Cubs 5-3.

Horacio Clarke gave Peterson a 1-0 lead with a home run in the first inning and then Bobby Murcer put the game out of sight with a three-run blast as the Yankees scored four times in the second inning. It was Murcer's 100th career homer.

Nolan Ryan pitched a three-hitter for his third straight shutout and ninth of the season as California stopped the stumbling Tigers.

The Angels' right-handed ace extended his scoreless string to 34 innings while helping his team complete a three-game sweep over Detroit. Ryan struck out 10, including the last three batters in the ninth, to push his American League-leading total to 244. Ryan's victory was his 15th this year.

Dave May's two-run single sparked a decisive, three-run outburst in the second inning as Milwaukee rallied for its victory over Kansas City. Winner Skip Lockwood had yielded three runs to the Royals before his teammates came back with three runs in the first and three more in the next inning.

Doug Rader's two-run single capped a four-run rally in the third inning and Larry Dierker scattered seven hits in leading Houston's victory.

"This club is really playing great now," said Houston Manager Leo Durocher, who's undefeated in four games since he took over the club last Sunday.

"They have enthusiasm on the bench—I don't see much of that anymore."

Claude Osteen pitched a six-hitter and took care of the winning run himself with a sixth-inning single as Los Angeles beat Chicago and kept alive its flickering pennant chances in the National League West. The third-place Dodgers trail the first-place Cincinnati Reds by 1½ games.

After Wes Parker doubled home a run and Bobby Valentine singled in another to key a three-run Dodger first, Osteen singled home a runner from second base in the sixth for his team's fourth run.

The margin helped the Dodger left-hander withstand a three-run home run by Ron Santo in the Chicago seventh. After that blast, Carmon Fanzone hit a two-out single to keep the pressure on.

But Osteen worked out of trouble in both the eighth and ninth innings to record his 15th victory of the year.

Travelers win, 7-3

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Steve Evans twirled a four-hitter as the Arkansas Travelers whipped Memphis 7-3 in Texas League action here Thursday night.

Evans, now 8-0, probably will not get another start since there are only four games left in the season, but Manager Fred Koenig said he would use Evans when he could to give the big right-hander a chance to even his win-loss record.

Two of the hits off Evans were homers by Tommy Williams and Tom Hallums.

Spitz: The great one

MUNICH (AP) — "I'm very thrilled—yes, I'm proud," Mark Spitz said after beating the clock twice to become the greatest swimmer in Olympic history.

But there was no joy for Eddie Hart and Ray Robinson. The clock had beaten them.

Spitz, America's human torpedo from Carmichael, Calif., churned to glory with a world-record clocking of 54.27 seconds in the 100-meter butterfly for his fourth gold medal of these 20th Summer Games. And barely an hour later, he won his unparalleled fifth, anchoring the United States' victorious 800-meter freestyle relay team.

It brought him within two of his unspoken but determined goal of an unheard of seven golds here.

Spitz' five golds broke the record of four in the swims held by such Olympians as Johnny Weismuller and Don Schollander. And it equaled the Olympic record of five won by any competitor. Italian fencer Nedo Nadi did it in 1920.

He goes after No. 6 Sunday in the 100-meter freestyle. The climax comes Monday in the 400-meter medley relay—or will it?

"If I win the 100," Spitz casually remarked after his remarkable performance, "I might not swim in the 400. I'd rather win six of six than take a chance on six of seven."

To this his coach and coach of the U.S. women's team, Sherrn Chavoor, replied: "If he drops out of one, I'll break his damned neck."

The only things broken as far as Hart and Robinson were concerned were their hearts. They won't have a chance to break any records here because of a monumental scheduling foul-up that threatens U.S. domination of track and field's sprints.

Everybody, it seems, was blaming everybody else Thursday after Robinson, of Lakeland, Fla., and Hart, from Pittsburg, Calif., were so late arriving at the stadium that they missed their 100-meter dash heats.

Robert Taylor of Houston was late, too, but he managed to rip off his sweat suit, jump into his shoes and onto the starting blocks and, without a warmup, qualify for the semifinals in his heat.

Sprint Coach Dan Wright initially took the blame. "I gave them the wrong time. It was my fault," he said, explaining he had told his charges the heats began not at 4:15 p.m. but at 7 p.m.

Several hours later, though, American officials called a news conference and, displaying an apparently outdated schedule book, said the fault lay with the German Olympic organizers, who, the U.S.

speakers insisted, had provided the wrong times.

But Hans Klein, Olympic Press Chief, and one of his aides, Ulrich Pabst, responded by producing a track schedule showing the events set up to run in the sequence in which they were conducted.

That schedule, dated Sept. 20, 1971, was mailed to all Olympic officials within a few days of publication, they said—and Klein, commenting on Wright's statement that the U.S. officials could not obtain an up-to-date schedule, replied: "I guess that's a good one—but why were all the others there?"

Spitz' performance in the 100-meter butterfly, in which he beat out Canadian silver medalist Bruce Robertson and bronze winner Jerry Heidenreich of Dallas, was a personal triumph—but he saved his kudos for his relay teammates, particularly Steve Genter of Lakewood, Calif.

Genter gave Spitz a 15-meter head start on the anchor after heroically wiping out a seven-meter lead held by West Germany at the halfway mark.

"His 200 meters today," Spitz said of Genter, "was one of the most outstanding swims I've ever seen. Steve has to go down as pretty tough, especially after what he went through." What Genter had gone through, just one week ago, was surgery for a collapsed lung.

In other U.S. track events, meanwhile, Munich-born Frank Shorter set an American record in the 10,000 meters as he qualified with a third-place time of 27 minutes 58.2 seconds.

Larry Young was the best U.S. finisher in the 20-kilometer walk, coming in 10th, and Willie White was 11th in the women's long jump with 20 feet 7 inches.

Defending champion Madeline Manning Jackson America's top female hope for a gold, qualified in the 800-meter run and Dave Wottle, overcoming an ailing knee, qualified in his 800 meter trial.

The United States made its best showing ever in wrestling with three golds, two silvers and a bronze. "I predicted six medals," overjoyed U.S. Coach William Farrel of New York crowed, "but that was to psyche the team up. This is beyond our wildest hopes!"

One of the golds went to Dan Gable of Waterloo, Iowa, in the 149.5-pound class. It climaxed three years of three-day practices without a miss. "This is undoubtedly the happiest moment of my life," Gable said.

Wayne Wells, a 27-year-old Norman Okla. lawyer, also won a gold in the 163-pound class while Ben Peterson of Comstock, Wis., got his in the 198-pound class.

Nothing rattles Rice's free-spirit Barnes

HOUSTON (AP) — If new Rice Coach Al Conover thought he rattled free-spirited Rodrigo Barnes' philosophy about football with a one week demotion to the second team, the Owl mentor had better get a new game plan for handling his outspoken middle linebacker.

Conover told a group of touring Southwest Conference football writers Thursday that he demoted Barnes because "he wasn't doing well ... you do it or you don't. There is no secret there have been problems (with his attitude) in the past."

"Rodrigo is a great athlete but when a new coach comes in he has to establish a program and precedents. Rodrigo realizes now what I want done."

Conover said Barnes, rated one of the top linebackers in the conference, was now back on the first team.

Barnes, who admits he isn't the gung-ho type, said, "They tried to rap me on the knuckles ... but I'm no fool. I know I'm going to play when times get tough."

He said, "I don't agree with everything he (Conover) is doing but, cool, if he's happy, I'm happy."

Barnes was chastized earlier in his career at Rice for not running off the field.

"There's never been any problem with my play on the field," Barnes said. "But some coaches think they can make me more a part of the team if I have more physical expression. Well, some times I'll give 'em a little handclap or something."

The 6-1, 220-pounder, who claims "I'm the best linebacker I've ever seen," said "football is a business to me."

"My thing is Rodrigo Barnes. After January the coach won't know who I am. My mind is on pro ball. I want to play five years—just long enough to get my pension—then retire. I've surpassed all that rah-rah stuff."

Barnes said, "I can't say I love football. Football is hard work. Anybody who says they like hard work ... well there's got to be something wrong."

"It's like a job. I want to be a No. 1 draft choice in the pros and get rich."

Barnes said if he were rich he just might take off on a tour of Europe for a month or two.

Turning to a writer, he said, "I might take you along for a month if I like you. Then I might get tired of you."

He said, "I'm interested in living my life. I don't know why anyone should resent me for my way of doing things because I don't resent anyone for being stereotyped."

Barnes added, "I play out of pride. I don't have to have someone lean on me."

BE PARTNERS WITH GOD SUPPORT HIS CHURCH

To The Work...

Here is a prayer for Labor Day. "Establish thou the work of our hands upon us; yea, the work of our hands establish thou it," Psalms 90:17. Laborers are their country's nobility. A man's work is born with him. "If any man will not work, don't let him eat; everyone should work peaceably and eat his own bread," 2 Thess. 3:10-12. "Six days shall you work but on the seventh day you shall rest," Ex. 34:21. Then from labor we do not ask respite but only for an intermission to recondition ourselves for the greater tasks ahead. God is with the working man and against the indolent, shiftless non-producers. Then let us labor together with God for Matthew said He promised rest to the heavy laden. He who works is the strength of his native land.

DR. LAWRENCE E. LAMB

How much booze to be alcoholic?

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

Dear Dr. Lamb—Would you please write something about alcohol. My husband thinks that to become an alcoholic you have to drink whisky. I told him a person could become an alcoholic by drinking beer alone. I'll tell you how much he drinks. From Monday through Thursday nights, he drinks six beers every evening. On Friday night, he drinks a dozen beers. On Saturdays he begins drinking at 7 a.m. and drinks 18 beers and on Sunday, he drinks 24 beers. Sometimes he has whisky in between.

Dear Reader—It's hard to pin down a definition of an alcoholic. A person who drinks large amounts regularly of any alcoholic beverage is suspect of being an alcoholic. This is particularly true if he drinks when he gets up in the morning as apparently your husband does and if he can't do without his alcohol.

Alcohol is clearly the number one drug problem in North America. It creates far more problems than the other drugs that have been receiving publicity in recent years. In the United States people spend more money on alcohol and cigarettes than the total amount of money spent nationally on medicine, hospitals and doctor bills.

If you've accurately described your husband's habits, he probably does have a drinking problem. I'm continually impressed that the best thing to do about this problem is to start with the family doctor. This means a medical examination to find out if there are any medical problems that

Bud Martin, Claude Pryor, Paul Bazar, Wade Harris, Ricky Hart, Mike Downs, Mike Waters, Kenny Roach, Tim Hogan, Clay O'Steen, Tim Boyd, and David Johnson.
THIRD ROW: James Robinson, Robbie Boyd, Buddy Ingram, Jud Martindale, David Williams, Craig Lance, Rusty Pendergraft, Mick Mc-Cormick, Tim Hart, Don Steele, Mike Butler, Jim Rhodes.

FOURTH ROW: Willard Wilmon, David Huddleston, Edward Marshall, Tommy Williams, Levester Stewart, Terry Martin, Harold Collins, Larry Hendrix, Eugene Tyree, Jack Still.

Hope trying to break the Ashdown jinx

The old saying is that lightning doesn't strike twice in the same place but you couldn't convince Hope fans of that where the Hope - Ashdown game is concerned. Ashdown has beaten the Cats four years in a row.

The games have all been close and hard fought, but when the scoreboard runs out the Panthers always are on top. Coach Dick Hays of Ashdown has to fill a lot of key positions but the Cats know to never take Ashdown lightly, especially where football is concerned.

When asked about Ashdown, Head Coach Gaylord Solomon replied, "They don't do anything fancy, they just line up and run at you, and it works."

The Cats are ready. But then in a row.

that's nothing new. Hope has been ready for Ashdown ever since the final whistle blew last year.

Several factors could decide the outcome. Hope will be counting on the running of Melvin Weston and David Johnson, who are both capable of running near 10 flat 100s.

This gives Hope one of the fastest backfields in the state.

Another big factor is the passing of Robbie Boyd to his favorite receivers, Buddy Ingram and Ricky Hart. If it comes down to a field goal then Paul Bazar could be a factor.

Weighing all the factors it should be a very interesting game.

Prediction:

 Ashdown 6

MAJOR HOOPLE'S FOOTBALL FORECAST

BIG-EIGHT SHOW

The Major Sees Nebraska as Being No. 1 Again; Colorado and Oklahoma Running Right Behind

By
MAJOR AMOS B. HOOPLE
Peerless Prognosticator

The Old Boy Himself

Egad, friends, it seems like only yesterday your favorite correspondent journeyed to Miami to watch the brilliant Nebraska Cornhuskers decimate Bear Bryant's Bama Boys in the Orange Bowl, and here we are on the threshold of another challenging collegiate pigskin season.

You will allow me, I trust, to take a modest bow for having pegged Nebraska's rout of Alabama which clinched the Cornhuskers' second straight national crown—har-rump!

In 1972, just as last year, the Big Eight elevens appear to be the powers. Rated No. 1, 2 and 3 at the end of the '71 season, Nebraska, Oklahoma and Colorado, respectively, are loaded again this year.

Having made it two in a row, a feat heretofore accomplished by only the great Notre Dame teams of 1946-47, can Bob Devaney's boys make it three in a row? It will be difficult, but—kaff-kaff—your Peerless Prognosticator sees the Cornhuskers repeating with talented slotback Jolly Johnny Rodgers leading the offense and All-America end Willie Harper spearheading the defensive forces.

The Oklahoma Sooners, with Greg Pruitt and a host of other talent, are bent on giving Eddie Crowder's Colorado club a stiff battle for the runner-up spot in the Big Eight and second place in the national ratings. Our preliminary surveys indicate the Buffaloes are a shade better than the Sooners.

Let you be misled by the foregoing, let me hasten to add all the great talent isn't confined to the Big Eight. No, not by any means!

The Pacific Eight duo, the Southern California Trojans and Stanford's powerful Indians, winners of the last two Rose Bowl encounters, figure to be top-notch again. And ready to move into the throne room should the Trojans or Indians falter are the Washington Huskies with Cherokee passing wizard Sonny Sixkiller at the helm.

In the powerful Southeastern Conference, your correspondent sees little difference between Alabama, Georgia, Tennessee, LSU and Mississippi, with any one of them capable of grabbing the crown. One club that could pull away from the pack right from the start is Charlie McClendon's LSU eleven led by versatile quarterback Bert Jones, son of the great Dub Jones who helped my a-hem—protege Paul Brown write pro football history with his Cleveland Browns some 20 years ago. Bert looks every bit as good as his daddy—um-kumph!

In the rugged Mid-America Conference, Toledo, sporting the nation's longest winning streak—35 straight—is in for some tough sledding. My scouts see both Miami's Redskins and the Bowling Green Falcons finishing ahead of the Rockets in the league competition. This, I believe, will be a very close race.

The Ivy League chase should be a humdinger—heh-heh—with my beloved alma mater Yale—Boola-Boola—bouncing back from a disappointing season to challenge Dartmouth, Harvard and Columbia for the crown. It's a chase any one of the four could win.

I look also for Woody Hayes' Buckeyes to rebound from, for them, a dismal 6-4 performance in 1971. The Bucks are talent-heavy at all positions and should give defending champion Michigan and rejuvenated Michigan State a run for their money. Bob Blackman's Illini boys may be a year or two away but they will pull some surprises and may be a good long-shot bet for the Big Ten title.

Watch for Arizona State to spread-eagle the field once again in the Western Athletic Conference and for Louisville to completely dominate the Missouri Valley Conference. My scouts report Louisville has its best team ever and will rate high in the national rankings.

For the authentic line on what's going to happen in these contests and the other 34 major attractions opening day, watch for our first forecast coming soon on these pages. The predictions will amaze you!

Among the independents we see Penn State and Boston College as the powers in the East. Georgia Tech, with flashy Eddie McAshan running the show, and Florida State are the class of the South. In the Midwest, Notre Dame towers above all and if quarterback Cliff Brown lives up to his potential, the Irish could make a strong run for national honors. The Air Force and Utah State give the Rocky Mountain area two top teams capable of holding their own in any competition. In the Southwest, the always dangerous Houston Cougars will bear watching.

So you see, dear readers, it will not be an easy season for the football forecasters, but, as usual, the Hoople Football Forecast staff is ready to give you their flawless predictions on the upcoming tussles.

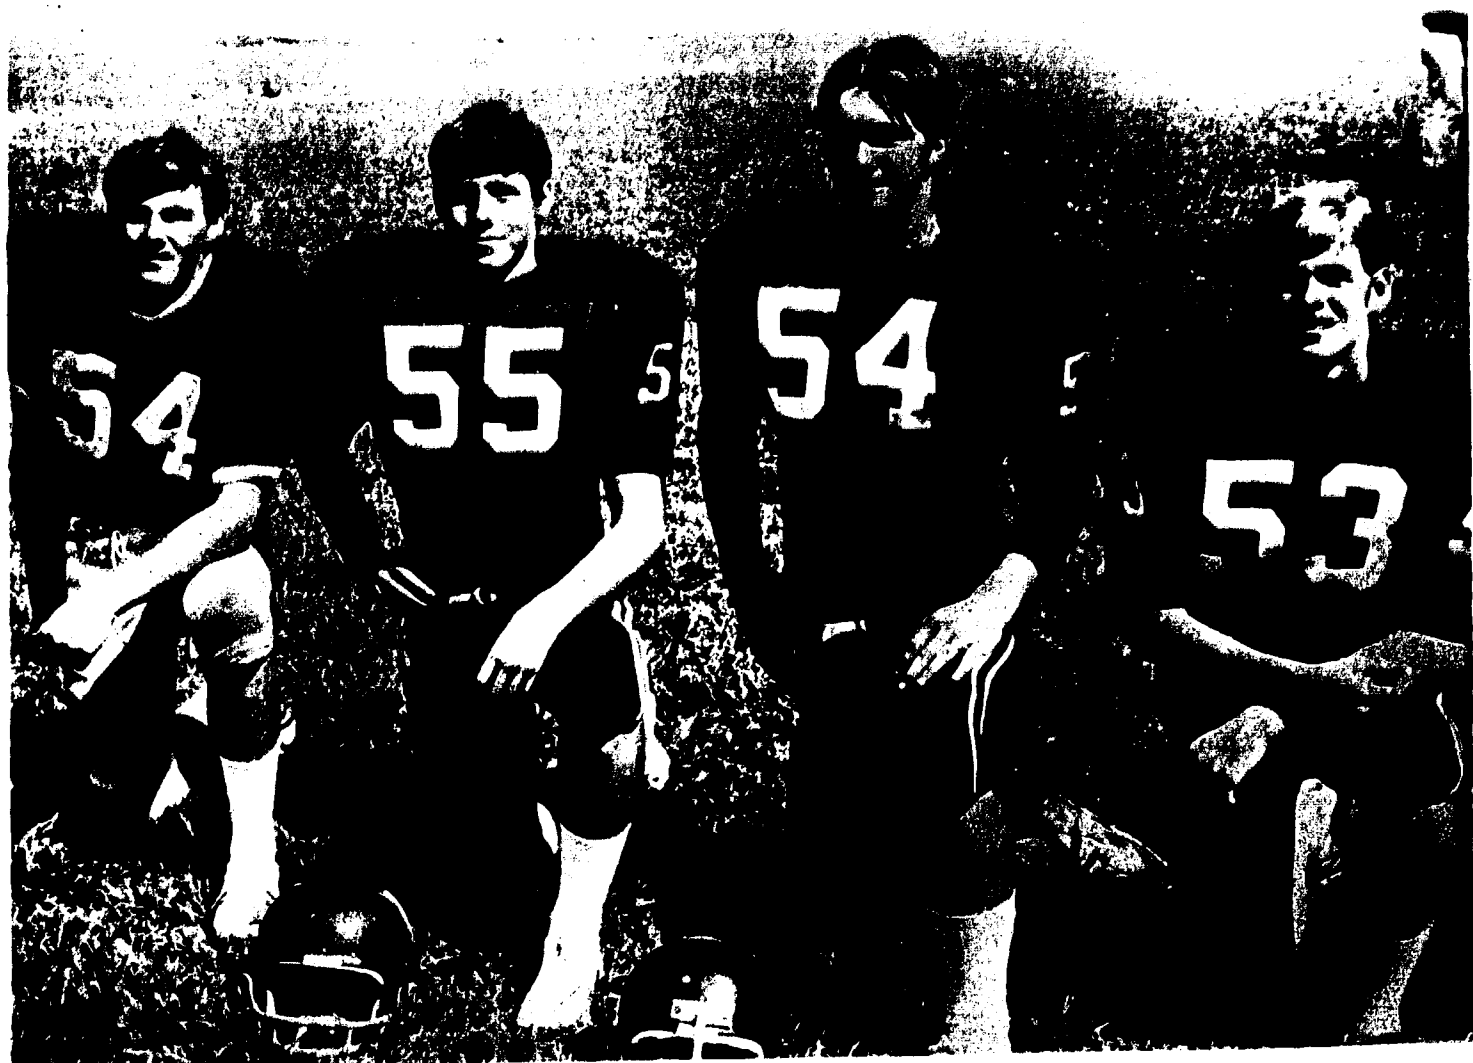

Getaway day, Sept. 9, finds most of the top clubs on the schedule. Slated to see action are Georgia Tech playing host to rugged Tennessee, Arkansas entertaining Southern California under the lights in Little Rock, Colorado welcoming California, Temple visiting Syracuse, and mighty Nebraska journeying to UCLA for a nocturnal encounter.

For the authentic line on what's going to happen in these contests and the other 34 major attractions opening day, watch for our first forecast coming soon on these pages. The predictions will amaze you!

Mike Downs, and Teddy Price.

Support for 'Cats evident

Widespread support of the Bobcats has already begun to show. This week several groups have been working toward Friday's game with Ashdown.

One of these is the band. This band is unlike any other in Hope's history as it will be Marching somewhere around 82 members. There could also be some surprise as to the numbers they play.

Another group is the Bobettes. What are the Bobettes? They are 42 girls who make the Bobcats number one on their list all during football season.

Also groups have assembled to paint signs and to create other ways of showing their spirit.

You may ask what's the reward? Well if you're looking for a reward, you've got the wrong attitude because the real aim is this "To Get Out And Support Your Team."

Make yourself a part of the Bobcats. Be at Hammon's Stadium at 8:00 tonite to see Hope play Ashdown.

Freshmen boosted to Texas varsity

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Two blue-chip freshmen quarterbacks at the University of Texas were promoted to the varsity Tuesday.

Coach Darrell Royal told Marty Akins, 6-foot-1, 195-pounder from Gregory-Portland, and Larry Miller, 5-11, 170, of Austin Reagan, to drill with the big boys in the afternoon session.

Jerry Sisemore, 6-4, 260, a consensus All-America tackle last year, put his arm around Akins and said, "Don't worry about it. You'll do okay."

"Yes, sir, Mr. Sisemore," Akins replied.

And he did. At first everything was a blur, "but it wasn't so fast I couldn't keep up with it," Akins said. "By the end of practice it was regular for me. I got used to it as time went by."

Royal earlier had said that unlike many coaches he would not play freshmen—eligible for the first time since the 1940s—because he thought it was unfair to throw them in with more mature players.

"We are just trying to get a look at everybody," Royal said. "It was just something the whole staff decided we should do."

The Longhorns have no experienced quarterback to run their Wishbone—T. Alan Lowry, who ran it in high school at Irving has been switched from defensive halfback for his senior year, and Royal has said he is confident Lowry can do the job.

Akins led Gregory-Portland to the Class 3A finals last year, where they lost to Plano, 20-21, with Akins playing with a fractured wrist.

Akins is strong—over 60 feet with the high school shot put—and appears to possess the other qualities a Wishbone—T quarterback must have: intelligence and quickness with hands and feet.

He also has a good passing arm and led Texas to a 21-20 comeback victory over the Oklahoma high school all-stars earlier this month.

Still running second-string behind Lowry is sophomore Mike Presley. Third-teamer Adrian Ford was sent to the defense, where he is third-team safety.

Sophomore offensive tackle John Boecker, who pleased Royal by cutting his weight from 310 to 255 this summer, was back up to 265 Monday, then actually gained a pound in Tuesday morning's practice—from 270 to 271, presumably from drinking water at breaks—but was back down to 267 at the conclusion of the afternoon workout.

NORTH RUSTICO, P.E.I. (AP) — A New York woman has landed a tuna near here that appears to be the biggest ever caught by a woman. Barbara Goss of White Plains, N.Y., hooked the 92-pound tuna Tuesday on a regular 150-pound test line. If made official, the tuna's 92 pounds will beat the previous women's world record by 100 pounds.

CALA DI VOLPE, Sardinia (AP) — Joe Frazier, world heavyweight boxing champion helped free eight Carabinieri—national policemen—from a helicopter which crashed Wednesday near this town on Sardinia's fashionable Costa Smeralda. The helicopter plunged near a golf course where Frazier was playing. Five of the policemen suffered injuries and were taken to the hospital.

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Torsten Johansson of Sweden has advanced to the quarter final round in defense of his U.S. Senior Grass Court Tennis championship by defeating Leon Wilson of Jacksonville, Fla., 6-2, 6-3 at the Philadelphia Cricket Club.

PRO CHARTS

by MURRAY OLDERMAN
American Conference: Eastern Division
MIAMI DOLPHINS

PROSPECTUS — Team really beginning to feel its strength. Terrific offensive balance; all Don Shula really has to do is shore up couple of spots in the defense, his special area of knowledge. Most of all, it's still a young, developing team that's not convinced it played its best in Super Bowl.

Don Shula

OFFENSE

QUARTERBACK—Momentum is on Bob Griese's side. He stands as MVP in league. At 27, he hasn't even peaked. No doubts about his arm any more. Picked up aged Earl Morrill for insurance. Rating—A.

RUNNING BACKS—Butch and Sundance, otherwise known as Larry Csonka and Jim Kiick, fast becoming most celebrated duo in game. They use the bludgeon, not the ripper. But generally unappreciated is their auxiliary value as fine receivers. And when a burst of super-speed is required, Mercury Morris supplies it on spot duty. Rating—A—.

WIDE RECEIVERS—There is no single more dangerous performer in football than whippet-fast, precise-patterned Paul Warfield. The scoring spark behind the championship drive of Dolphins. Always needed another guy to take pressure off him, and now they have it with Martin Briscoe from Bills. Also expect Otto Stowe to keep improving. Rating—A—.

TIGHT END—No acclaim comes to Marv Fleming, but he's a winner, first with Packers, now here. Being pushed hard now by Jim Mendick, better receiving threat. Rating—B—.

LINE—Should be same as last year. Standout is Larry Little, an all-pro guard, maybe best blocker in game. Bob DeMarco regained vitality in balmy Miami climate to hang on at center. Guy who should get more credit is tackle Norm Evans, sole remnant of expansion draft which created Dolphins. Rating—B+.

DEFENSE

LINE—Cowboys in Super Bowl showed Miami could be chewed up inside. So went out and got Jim Dunaway from Bills. He used to be one of sturdiest tackles in game. Dolphins hope he can regain incentive here. Manny Fernandez doesn't look part, but he's an active terror inside. Bill Stanfill, either Bob Heinz or Jim Riley hold down ends. Stanfill's top pass rusher up front. Rating—B—.

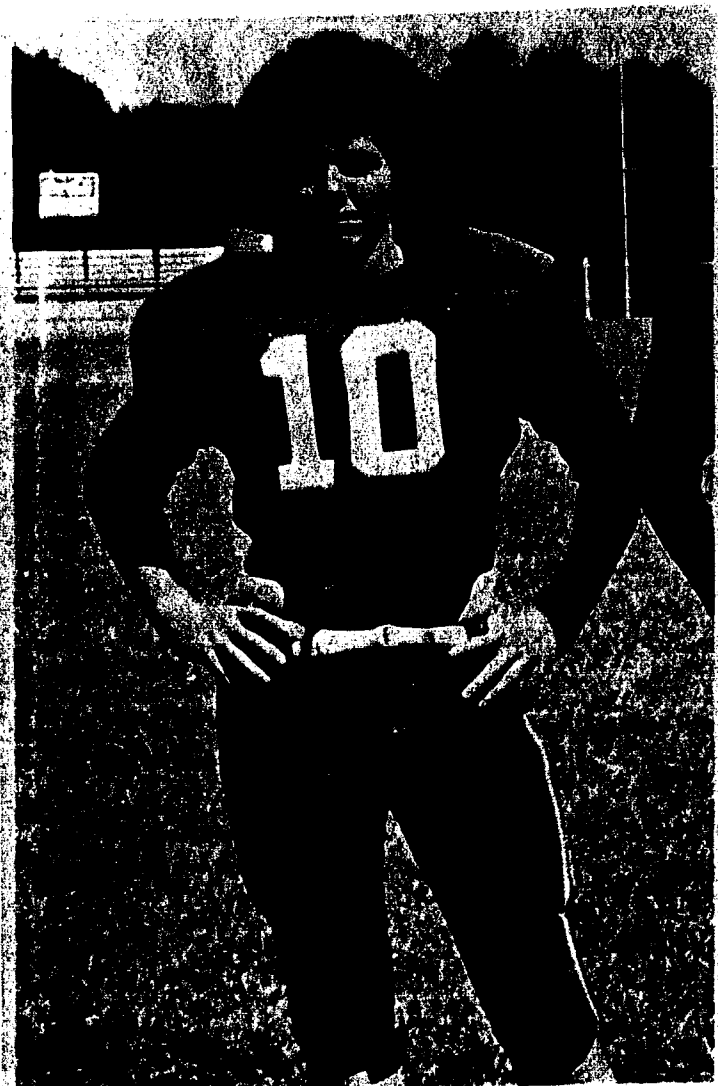

LINEBACKERS—Can they get another inspirational year from Nick Buoniconti (in 11th year)? Can Shula nurse the obvious talents of Steve Kiner, who's been a tough character to handle? Will last year's unknowns, Mike Kelen and Doug Swift, hold up as corner men? The answers to these must be positive for Dolphin defense to hold up. Rating—B—.

SECONDARY—A young, developing quartet. Jake Scott at free safety has turned into a super talent. They like Dick Anderson, the strong safety, almost as much even if his speed is just average. Curtis Johnson, Tim Foley and Lloyd Mumphord provide a trio of swift corner backs. Rating—B+.

KICKING—Garo Ypreman can do no wrong in Miami, not after last year. The left-footed little Cypriot boots 'em long and short. Larry Seiple is a steady punter. Rating—A—.

PREDICTION

First in Division. It's no cinch with competition like Jets, Colts. But they're in driver's spot.

PROBABLE STARTING QUARTERBACK—for the Bobcats is Robie Boyd.

Assessing the opposition

By ALAN FOSTER
Star Sports writer

Last year the Magnolia Panthers surprised everyone by making a Cinderella sweep of Region 7AA. And the future still looks bright for them as they return with a lot of experience and talent.

If Magnolia plays up to their potential and doesn't suffer early injuries they should be the team to beat as well as the team to watch in the conference.

But it isn't over yet. Everyone is out to defeat the conference leader so the Panthers will have to fight to stay on top.

Malvern Looks Good

The Malvern Leopards were considered by many to be the best team in the conference last year, but a few bad breaks found them bowing out to Magnolia at the end of the season.

Malvern returns such talent as J.R. Ross, a running back will still be remembered by Hope fans. All-in-all Malvern will be out for blood and they have a good chance at top honors if Hope and Magnolia are ruled out. Watch Malvern; they could be trouble.

Hopes For Arkadelphia Dim

Arkadelphia is having its problems. Racial uprisings left a few key Badgers on the ineligible list. Keep in mind that these were players that the Badgers were counting on to keep them near the top.

Returning starters include quarterback Wesley Kluck and running back Mack Harris. Also returning on defense will be 6-3, 215 lb. Dwight Dixon who was All-District last year.

But unless the key suspensions are ironed out it could be a long season for new Badger Coach Ed Johnson.

Outlook Bad for Fairview

The Cards were 0-9-1 last year and they return only eight starters. That spells problems with a capital "P".

The defense will be built around linebacker Rusty Ingram and tackle Mark Atkinson. Coach Steve Burgess claims that the Cardinals not only lack experience but also are hurting for speed. His hopes are just to play 500 football.

Never Count Out Ashdown

Since the Panthers only return nine lettermen off last year's 8-2 squad, to repeat that record seems like the "impossible dream". But never count out Ashdown.

Returning men include halfback Jimmy Welch, fullback, Jerry Ward and end Mark Pickett.

As always coach Dick Hayes will be shooting for the title but he says their drawback will be "size".

No Hope For Crossett To Take Title

The Eagles won one game last year and they lost 22 lettermen which should give you a fair picture of this year's outlook.

Returning lettermen include Running backs Gary Johnson and Mike Hutchins and veteran center Tony Hendrix.

But there is one factor which could change the outlook and that is head coach John Pierce. We should know about the Eagles early as they play both Magnolia and Malvern to start the season.

No Chance To Repeat

The Scrappers finished in a tie with DeQueen for last year's 7-A crown. But they don't have much of a chance to repeat.

Coach Ronnie Bell claims that his team lacks experience speed, and quickness. Linebacker Bobby Floyd and defensive back David Woodruff seem to be the Scrappers' strong points. It could be a long season for Nashville.

Stamps Looks Tough

The Yellowjackets will probably provide Hope their toughest non-conference test.

Returning starters include Steve Wright, a fullback that is already drawing the attention of college scouts and David Jacobs who provided Stamps' spark an defense.

The Yellowjackets look loaded with talent and they are not to be taken lightly.

Prescott Looks Good

This year's Prescott Curly Wolves could be trouble for their opponents. They return 13 starters and could pull some upsets.

Coach Charles Montgomery seems to have high hopes for this squad.

It looks lik. Prescott's top prospect will be tailback Jerry Spearman who gained 663 yards last season.

Camden Must Rebuild

The Panthers return only six lettermen and five starters off last year's 5-4-1 club. They are center Steve McGuire, guard Robert Smith, flanker Dana Craig, end David Jordan, and defensive back John Haynie.

Looks like a long season for Camden because suspensions could also hurt their list of new prospects.

Support the Bobcats

Reddies will field strong team

Reddie Head Coach Ralph "Sporty" Carpenter feels that Henderson State College will put one of its stronger teams on the gridiron for the 1972 season. "We have a strong corps of experienced players to draw from and some exceptional freshman talent who'll help us during their first year," Carpenter said.

The Reddies return three starting offensive linemen, Tight end John Ford from Amarillo, Tex., Offensive Tackle Randy Morgan from Rison and Offensive Guard Silas Johnson from North Little Rock.

Carpenter plans to move defensive starter Howard Thresher from Little Rock to offensive center to replace senior Elwood Edwards, Malvern, an All AIC Center two consecutive years. Linebacker Ronnie Beavers, Camden, will be moved to offensive guard.

Joe Yancey, Sheridan, a 6-6, 240-pound tight end who saw considerable action as a freshman last season, will be moved to offensive tackle and "he will do a job," Coach Carpenter said.

In the backfield, "do-everything" James White, a co-captain for 1972, from Pine Bluff will be a wingback and he will be backed up by Dick Faulkner from Little Rock and Terry Bell from Mineral Springs.

Last year's starting quarterback Lewis Pryor will be shifted to tailback to utilize his speed and running ability with talented Sylvester Henry from League City, Tex. and Bruce Waters from North Little Rock pushing him for the starting slot, Coach Carpenter said. Waters is also running at fullback with Charles Heuser from Gillett.

We also have two fine split receivers in Greg Jacobs from Fordyce and Ronnie Hughes from Darnelle, Carpenter said. Mike LeNear from North Little Rock and Pat McGuire from Camden are also in contention for a guard slot.

At quarterback, Coach Carpenter is looking at sophomore James Radford from Mansfield, La., and incoming freshman talent in Ronnie Young of Hot Springs and Terry Blaylock of Catholic High in Little Rock.

On defense co-Captain and All-AIC safety Jodie Carter, North Little Rock, heads the list of returning veterans.

"Our defensive secondary is in tremendous shape with veterans Ray Reynolds from El Dorado, Jimmy Rice from Nashville Ricky Glidwell from Jonesboro, Steve Winston from Rison and Billie Miller from Rison who also handles the punting chores.

On the defensive line, the Reddies have Calvin Johnson from Camden, Larry Lock from Malvern, Maurice Grant from W. Memphis, Ray Opits from Greenwood, and Bill McGill from Ft. Smith at defensive ends.

Co-captain James Moorehart from Harrisburg. Drew Parker from Stamps will be at offensive tackle with help expected from Harry East from Marion and Roy Wood from Camden.

A nose guard will be High School All-American Dennis Parker from Arkadelphia in his second year as a starter.

Lou Saban

PROSPECTUS—Lou Saban at least should bring some order out of chaotic recent history. He's been there before. The years of drafting near the top (because of dismal place in standings) should show some results, too. Problem now is getting it all together, injecting a forceful attitude into a club gone sloppy.

OFFENSE

QUARTERBACK—Strong doubts now surfacing about generalship of precocious Dennis Shaw. And as passer, he throws too many interceptions. Jim Harris, black pioneer qb, might get lot more action. Rating—C.

RUNNING BACKS—In this, his fourth year, O. J. Simpson expects to show why he was most celebrated collegian of '60s. Really nothing wrong with him except need for a better supporting cast, and chance to carry more. Big Wayne Patrick, with help of Jim Braxton and Ted Kay, rounds out solid set of backs. Rating—A—.

WIDE RECEIVERS—Could afford to trade Marlin Briscoe because J. D. Hill is ready to join Haven Moses on sprintout line. J. D. is potential super-star who hurt his knee last year. Moses should be among the elite, too, but disappointed last year. Rating—B—.

TIGHT END—Jan White made the usual rookie mistakes but showed enough last year to claim job again. He'll have the competition of Dave Washington to spur him. Rating—B.

LINE—Got height if nothing else, with such tree-toppers as 6-7 center Bruce Jarvis, 6-8 tackle Donnie Green, 6-5 tackle Paul Costa. Getting veteran Irv Goode from Cardinals adds touch of class to mostly unknown group of kids. Rookies Reggie McKenzie and Bobby Penchion making strong bid for guard jobs. Rating—B—.

DEFENSE

LINE—If All-Star injury doesn't slow him, Walt Patulski, first collegian picked in draft, will help create instant harassment for all quarterbacks. With him and agile Al Covilings on the flanks, Bills won't lack pass rush. Quality falls off greatly at the tackles. Rating—B.

LINEBACKERS—Need improvement by Edgar Chandler in middle—he's had a couple of years to get acquainted with the job—and a return to form by Mike Stratton, the chief link to the old AFL championship days. Paul Guidry rounds out the trio, with ex-Dolphin Dale Farley ready to step in. Rating—C—.

SECONDARY—They feel the corners are handled O.K. by Bob James and Al Wyatt, but Frank Pitts hasn't made the most of his size as a free safety. There's general lack of depth in the secondary. They're looking around for help. Rating—C.

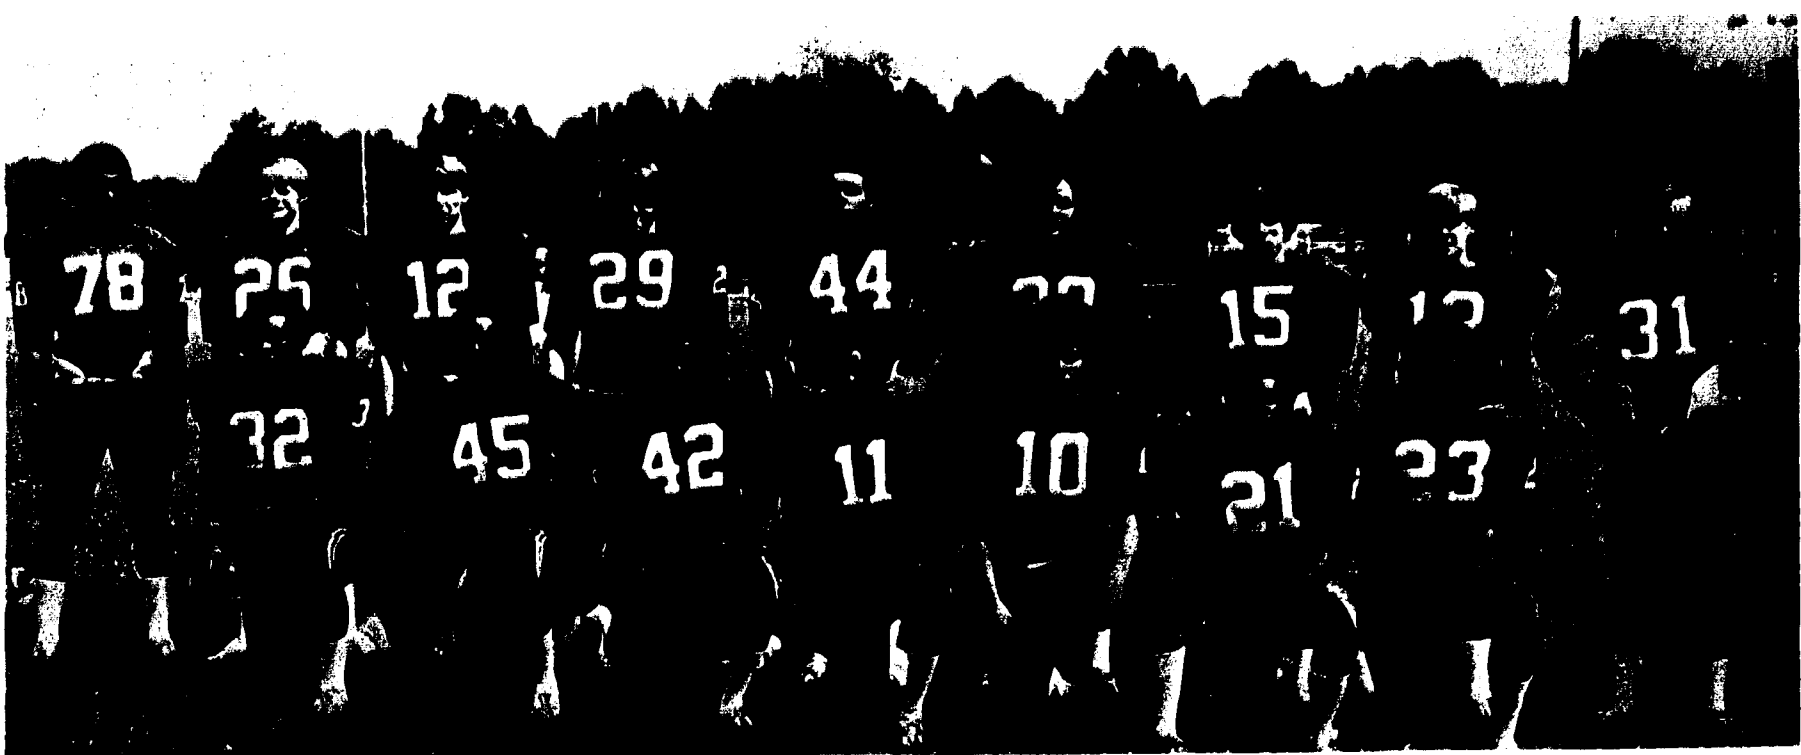

KICKING—Guys who finished last year—Spike Jones as the punter, John Leypoldt as field goal kicker—return for more. They're average. Rating—B.

SPECIAL TEAMS—If J. D. Hill could be risked as return man, wow... Meanwhile like Hill isn't bad either and Wyatt can break away at times. Rating—B.

Coach's comments

When head coach Gaylord Solomon was asked about Friday's game this was his answer:

"We're going into it blind. We feel we know our strengths and weaknesses, but you never know until after the first game. I think one thing we've got going for us is our team spirit and morale. It has been very high throughout workouts. To beat Ashdown our secondary will have to contain their passing game and our interior line will have to hold its own. It will be a close game but I think we've done everything possible to prepare for it. I think we're ready."

Eddie Brown, and Don Steele; standing: Larry Hendrix, Stan Nix, Buddy Ingram, Jud Martindale, Kenny Roach, Willard Wilmon, Tim Boyd, Rusty Pendergraft, and Jacky Barker.

Where is Dallas' heralded talent now?

By JIM McLAIN

In The Shreveport Times "Wow, what talent those guys have got," you'd hear Dallas Cowboys fans say back during the off-season. "They've got Staubach, Duane Thomas, Bob Lilly..." the conversation would go.

But now it's autumn and star running back Thomas is gone—traded to San Diego and quarterback Roger Staubach, the National Football League's most valuable player last season, is out for most of the season with a separated shoulder.

Looking to the Draft

For almost any other team in the NFL losses of that magnitude would start fans talking about what top college players the team could get in the draft after a low regular season finish.

The Cowboys and their fans, however, remain supremely confident the team can repeat its triumph in the Super Bowl. "I still measure our chances to win the championship as good as long as Morton (backup quarterback Craig) stays in there," says Tom Landry, the only head coach the Dallas team has ever had.

"We're going to miss Roger a great deal," says wide receiver Bob Hayes. "But Craig took up to the Super Bowl, too, (in 1971) and he was hurt when he did it. He can do it again."

Morton (6-4, 214) was the Cowboys' No. 1 draft choice in 1965 out of California and spent four seasons as a backup man to Don Meredith before Dandy Don's retirement.

He started in 1969 and 1970, but was hampered both years by injuries.

"I'm throwing as well now as I ever have," Morton, who has had two arm operations, says.

The Thomas trade brought in another running back in Mike Montgomery who gained 226 yards on 60 carries for the Chargers last season for a 3.8

average gain and Billy Parks, a receiver who grabbed 41 passes for 609 yards and four touchdowns.

Ron Sellers, the former Florida State great, is another name on the list of outstanding Cowboy receivers. He was acquired from New England for a draft choice.

With Lance Alworth, Hayes, Sellers and Montgomery handling the catching, Morton shouldn't lack for wide receivers to throw to.

Another new face with the Cowboys who could play a major role before the season is over is stumpy No. 2. draft pick Robert Newhouse from the University of Houston.

Gator, as he is called, was the most effective College All-Star runner against the Cowboys at Soldier Field back in July and has looked good since reporting to the Dallas camp.

Due to his late start, however, it'll probably take the Hallsville, Tex., flash a while to get the hang of Landry's complicated offensive system.

Dallas lost its No. 1 draft choice, running back Bill Thomas, when the Boston College ace had to undergo surgery to correct an old injury.

The Cowboys have also done a lot of business with New Orleans since last season, trading receiver Margene Adkins, running back Joe Williams, linebacker Tom Stingie and rookie kicker John Berthold for future draft choices.

Calvin Hill, plagued by injuries since he came into the league with such a bang in 1969, is being groomed to take over Duane Thomas' running back spot while the fullback position is in the capable hands of Walt Garrison.

Landry gets Ralph Neely back after the big offensive tackle broke his leg in a motorcycle mishap last season. Tony Liscio, pressed into service in the offensive line, has retired again.

Guards Baline Nye and John Niland, center Dave Manders and tackle Rayfield Wright round out the offensive line while the defense returns intact. Mike Ditka and Billy Truax are the very capable tight ends.

All-Pro Lilly and linebacker Chuck Howley head up the stop

'em unit that has become one of football's finest.

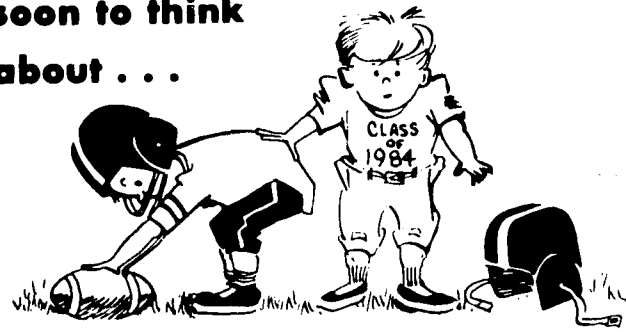

The other "down" positions were played last season by George Andrie, Jethro Pugh and Larry Cole, but Andrie could lose his starting role to either Tody Smith or Pat Toomay.

The Cowboys look solid again at linebacker with Howley, Leroy Jordan, Dave Edwards and D.D. Lewis and in the secondary with Cornell Green, Herb Adderley, Mel Renfro, Cliff Harris and Charlie Waters.

Ron Widby averaged 41.6 per punt last season and appears set in his job.

It's not too soon to think about...

John Madden

PROSPECTUS—Failure to win the big game beginning to bug Raider organization. Actually equalled win-loss record (8-4-2) of previous year. Still top-flight squad talent-wise but in throes of change-over. Quietly adding lots of young, brisk bodies to starting lineups (three rookies on defensive platoon in '71). Definitely a championship factor again. Coach John Madden gaining maturity, too.

OFFENSE

QUARTERBACK—Crucial year for Daryle Lamonica. Ken Stabler keeps pressing him. Daryle has the arm and the experience but keeps getting hurt at inappropriate times. Rating—B.

RUNNING BACKS—Desperately missed Charlie Smith last year, as much for receiving as running. Also outside threat. Charlie's back whole now. So's Clarence Davis, breakaway type. Time's running out for Hewitt Dixon, though. Merv Hubbard's set at fullback, with Don Highsmith equipped to help at both spots with Jeff Queen adding depth. Rating—B—.

WIDE RECEIVERS—If season in jail didn't dull Warren Wells' reflexes, Raiders will regain scoring punch. He's as good as there is on long bombs. Fred Biletnikoff's premier type, too, if not as fast. And they like rookie Mike Siani, the top draftee. Rating—A—.

TIGHT END—Raymond Chester was not quite as awesome in soph year. But he's still mighty fine. And if he ever relaxes, young Bob Moore can be just as effective. Rating—A—.

LINE—You know the quality's there when guys like Ron Mix, Jim Harvey weren't regulars. Jim Otto at center goes on forever. Obvious all-pro vote-getters are tackle Bob Brown, guard Gene Upshaw but even they don't stand out much in Raider array up front. Rating—A—.

DEFENSE

LINE—One phase of Raider squad which doesn't measure up. Reason is they don't have the one over-powering physical type pass rusher usually found on championship teams. None in sight this time either unless they make surprise trade. Juggled players considerably last year to find right combo. Horace Jones probably will play tackle this time. Tony Cline might be switched to linebacker. Rating—B—.

LINEBACKERS—Maybe it's coincidence but Raiders slumped in late-season after Gus Otto, longtime incumbent on right side, got hurt. Phil Villapiano was whiz at strong side. He'll get even better. Don Connor is old reliable in middle, not as physical as he might be but a smart leader. Lots of young guys like Gerald Irons, Bill Enyart for relief work, too. Rating—B.

SECONDARY—Beginning to amend old bump-and-run style (which was man-for-man) to include some zone defenses. Guys they have are versatile enough for anything. Willie Brown's still good as any corner man in pro ball. Jack Tatum should lose indecisiveness of rookie season and boom as a hard-hitting free safety. George Atkinson, Nemiah Wilson know what it's all about. Rating—A—.

KICKING—Old vet George Blanda goes on-and-on-and-on. Punting's little up in air figuratively, with Jerry DePoyster the likely booter. Rating—B.

SPECIAL TEAMS—Lot of hustle with kids like Bob Moore, Gerald Irons. Good kick returners, too, in Atkinson, Clarence Davis. Rating—B.

PREDICTION

First in division. Because Raiders have to be hungrier after last season's disappointment.

Cornhuskers to try to harvest another crown

CHICAGO (AP) — Nebraska's crunching Cornhuskers, poised to harvest an unprecedented third successive national title, are favored to pace the amazing Big Eight to another one-two-three sweep of 1972 collegiate football honors.

Many experts regard the national runnerup spot a tossup between Oklahoma, No. 2 in the final 1971 Associated Press poll, and No. 3 Colorado as the Big Eight spread eagles the talented Midlands scene.

Some loud Midwest football noise also could come from the Big Ten with defending champion Michigan, Ohio State, Purdue and Michigan State pegged forerunners in an unpredictable conference race.

Then, there always is Notre Dame, the perennial powerhouse independent, itching to improve last season's No. 13 AP poll finish.

In other Midlands conferences, Toledo's long Mid-America title reign apparently has ended with Bowling Green and Miami (Ohio) crisp pretenders, while in the Missouri Valley Conference, Louisville could dethrone Memphis State.

At Nebraska's bristling football stronghold, Bob Devaney writes an end to his coaching career after winning or sharing the Big Eight title seven of the last 10 seasons.

Devaney, who is retiring as coach to become Husker athletic director exclusively, has 10 starters among 28 lettermen returning from his mighty club which routed Alabama 38-6 in the Orange Bowl.

He has a glittering trio returning in running back Johnny Rodgers, middle guard Rich Glover and defensive end Willie Harper.

The Big Eight title—and Nebraska's bid for a third national crown—could hinge on the Huskers' Nov. 4 invasion of Boulder, Colo., facing Colorado's solid Buffaloes.

The Buffs return 13 starters among 31 lettermen, led by halfback Charlie Davis and linebacker Bud Magrum, from last season's 10-2 club.

But Oklahoma also is impressively loaded, with slashing Greg Pruitt and center Tom Brahaney spearheading 12 starters among 33 lettermen returning from the Sooners' 11-1 Sugar Bowl champion team.

Michigan has lost 13 starters from Bo Schembechler's 1971 juggernaut which owned a perfect 11-0 record before being ambushed by Stanford in the Rose Bowl, 13-12. This season, The Wolves face challenges from all sides.

For one thing, Ohio State's Woody Hayes, Big Ten coaching dean, starts his 22nd Big Ten season with 14 returning regulars and Woody's best sophomore group since the Rex Kern-led whiz kids of 1968.

Purdue, with 15 returning starters, has standouts in running back Otis Armstrong, defensive tackle Dave Butz, and quarterback Gary Danielson.

At Michigan State, perennial optimist Duffy Daugherty boasts he has the most superstars since his 1966 powerhouse. Spartan kingpins are towering defensive back Brad Van Pelt and tight end Billy Joe DuPree.

Like Illinois, a potential Big Ten sleeper, Michigan State's big problem is a thorny schedule. The Spartans open at Illinois Sept. 16 and then successively face Georgia Tech, Southern California and Notre Dame before colliding with arch-rival Michigan. The Spartans later have back-to-back contests with Purdue and Ohio State.

Illinois finished with a roar last season, the first Big Ten season for former Dartmouth coach Bob Blackman. After losing his first six games, Blackman got the Illini rolling with five closing victories. Blackman may have the Big Ten's best quarterback in Mike Wells and a superb defensive end in Tab Bennett, but the Illini play a suicidal schedule.

Starting Sept. 16 against Michigan State, Illinois successively meets Southern California, Washington, Penn State, Ohio State, Michigan and Purdue. Then, the Illini taper off against Northwestern, Indiana, Wisconsin and Iowa.

Indiana also rates as a Big Ten dark horse with 10 defensive and eight offensive starters among 36 returning lettermen.

Northwestern, Wisconsin, Minnesota and Iowa appear unlikely to crack the top of the league, although Wisconsin has an exciting runner in Rufus Ferguson. Minnesota unveils Cal Stoll as coaching successor to Murray Warmath.

At Notre Dame, Ara Parseghian starts his ninth coaching season with a sparkling 66-12-4 record, but must almost com-

Oooooohhhhhh, Pigs, Soooooie

By JIM McLAIN
In The Shreveport Times

It sounds like a strong wind rising followed by two quick thunderclaps—Oooooohhh, Pigs. Soooooie.

It's University of Arkansas fans calling the Pigs and Shreveport's Jim Hodge believes thousands of red-coated, fanatical Razorback fans are going to be rocking the Cotton Bowl with that cry New Year's Day in Dallas.

Jim was at the Cotton Bowl last New Year's — as a spectator—and he's made up his mind it won't happen again in 1973.

Shocking Loss

The Razorbacks, with the Southwest Conference title almost in their grasp after a smashing 31-7 conquest of defending champ Texas on national television, saw it slip from their grasp with a shocking loss to Texas A&M and a tie with Rice. Texas represented the league in the Cotton Bowl.

"We had a lot of things happen to us last year—a lot of disappointment," the 170-pound Razorback flanker said. "But we've got a lot more experience this year. We're going to be a lot closer knit team and work harder than we did last year," the former Woodlawn High standout promised.

"Speaking for the team," the swift senior remarked, "our goal is to win the Southwest Conference title."

Most observers believe the Razorbacks have the 'hoses' — starting with Heisman Trophy candidate Joe Ferguson—to do just that.

"We've got practically everybody coming back and we've got just two positions we don't know about — fullback and tight end. We worked on it last spring, but really didn't come up with an answer," Jim said.

"Jimmy Fryer (210-pound junior) from Eudora, Ark., has got a good chance, and of course there's Marsh White," Hodge said of the fullback battle.

White, who had knee surgery last spring, "has been up here (Fayetteville) for quite a while this summer," Jim revealed via long distance from his Fayetteville apartment. "He looks pretty good to me. We've worked a lot on the turf and he cut on it pretty good. It looks like he's got his speed back."

White is a 6-foot-2, 209-pounder with an exceptionally quick start and many believe if his injury has healed he could be the answer to one of the Porkers' biggest problem areas.

We need someone to keep 'em honest up the middle," said Jim, who has been working this summer in the resort community of Bella Vista near Fayetteville.

Saint Returns

Another fullback prospect is Texarkana's Mike Saint who changed his mind about passing up his senior season and will play this fall. Saint was the Razorbacks' most effective power runner late in the 1971 campaign. Wayne Miles of Magnolia, Ark., is another fullback possibility.

The other questionable position is tight end. "Scott Bull is one of the candidates and Steve Hedgepeth is another. At the end of the spring Steve was probably the No. 1 tight end," Hodge stated.

The passing game—with Shreveport quarterback Ferguson throwing to Hodge and split end Mike Reppend—is Arkansas' best weapon.

Ferguson, who completed 208 of 357 passes for 2,203 yards last year in earning SWC most valuable player laurels, is throwing better than ever, according to his old Woodlawn teammate.

They've been working out together most of the summer and Jim says "we've been working on deep patterns a good bit. They're harder to get down as far as timing goes."

Hodge, who has been playing football with Joe since their junior high days at Oak Terrace, caught 30 passes for 473 yards and three touchdowns during the regular season and snared six more for 75 yards and a touchdown in Arkansas' disappointing loss to Tennessee in the Liberty Bowl.

Reppend, a senior, caught 56 passes last season for 986 yards.

Hodge believes the offensive line of tackles Ron Revard (235) and Mike Griffin (241), guards Tom Reed (235) and Glen Lowe (24); and center Stuart Freeland (232) should be strong. "They've worked together as a group. Our timing is all down now."

Dicky Morton (170) and Jon Richardson (188) give the Porkers a formidable 1-2 punch at tailback.

Morton, the Dallas speedster, gained 831 yards and averaged 6.5 yards per carry last season and Richardson, when healthy, was also an effective runner.

Defense Solid

The Porker defense looks solid, too, says Jim.

"If our defensive line has any weak spots, I wouldn't know where to tell you. It's vastly improved and we've got real good linebackers in Scott Binnion, Danny Rhodes and John Wheat," Hodge stated.

"In the line we've got David Reavis (tackle) and Les Williams (defensive end) who are real strong, heads-up ballplayers."

"Last year the defensive backfield had some problems, but this year it's a lot faster and quicker. Louis Campbell and Jim Irwin (cornerbacks) are veterans and there are three top candidates for safeties — sophomore John Moseley, junior college transfer Rollen Smith and Jim Irwin's brother, Clark Irwin. All five guys have real good quickness and speed. Rollen does 9.6 in the 100 and Moseley and the Irwins have real good times in the 40," Jim revealed.

As for himself, Jim says "I'd like to improve over last year and my sophomore year. I'd like to catch a lot more passes this year and I think it can be done. I'd also like to improve on my downfield blocking. I had a lot of improvement there last year."

Jim has his eyes on the pros and he wouldn't mind a bit going to the team that drafts Ferguson.

He's encouraged by the success Randy Vataha, who was one of Jim Plunkett's prime receivers at Stanford, had with the New England Patriots last season.

"We're about the same size," says Hodge. A representative of a pro scouting combine came to Fayetteville and Hodge said he measured out to 5-9 7-8 and weighed 169½.

"So," said the gritty ex-Woodlawn, "I'll know somebody will be looking at me and I'd like to try my best."

1972: Year of the Husky

Football coaches are nearly unanimous on the West Coast that this is the year of the Husky.

"That's logical," says Jim Owens, coach of the Washington Huskies, "considering all the people we have back."

They include 19 starters, led by senior quarterback Sonny Sixkiller, from last year's 8-3 team.

"It's nice to be thought of that highly," says Owens, whose team might have gone all the way last year with better running to take some of the defensive pressure off of Sixkiller's passing.

Southern California's Trojans are most coaches' second choice to win the Pacific-8 title, with UCLA's Pepper Rodgers holding out and picking cross-town rival USC as the team to beat.

"Stop Sixkiller and make the runners beat you if you can," says USC's John McKay. "We did it, and so did Stanford and so did Oregon."

This year Owens hopes to generate enough running with junior Pete Taggares and seniors Larry Dumas and Darrell Downey to keep defenses honest. Downey sat out last year with grade problems.

Southern Cal could have a super team, says McKay, with quality plus depth everywhere except the offensive line.

Senior Mike Rae is the Trojans' No. 1 quarterback, with talented sophomore Pat Haden in the wings. Receivers include Edesel Garrison and Lynn Swann, plus sophomore J.K. McKay, the coach's son, and Rod McNeill and Sam Cunningham.

ham, both coming off injuries, make USC potent on the ground.

Oregon State may pose a serious challenge if Coach Dee Andros can whip up an offense to match his defense. The Beavers, 5-6 last year, return six starters from a good defensive unit. "We might have it on paper ... but they haven't proved themselves in this league yet," Andros says.

Jack Christiansen at Stanford is one of three new head coaches in the conference and four on the West Coast. Dick Enright is at Oregon, Mike White at California and Chester Caddas is at University of the Pacific in the Pacific Coast Athletic Association.

Stanford must replace 13 starters from the 8-3 team that beat Michigan in the Rose Bowl.

John Winesberry, a starter as a sophomore receiver, is slated as a running back this year. But Christiansen, who has other veteran receivers for Mike Borjila, a 6-4 quarterback, says "We'll continue to throw the football."

UCLA, 2-7-1 in Rodgers' first year, will be different and he looks for something between 1971's dismal record and an unbeaten campaign. The Bruins are going the way of the wishbone offense with James McAlister, a superb running back who sat out his sophomore year on NCAA orders because of irregularities on his entrance test. At Oregon, Enright has only five starters back from last year's 5-6 team "but we are (Continued on 10 B.)

PRO CHARTS

by MURRAY OLDERMAN

National Conference: Western Division
ATLANTA FALCONS

Norm Van Brocklin

PROSPECTUS—Coach Norm Van Brocklin stresses positivism. The Falcons got over .500 for first time in '71. Now it's time to shoot for top spot in division because "they know they can win." The question is how much. Team still has to be more physical in controlling ball and in keeping other teams from controlling it. What's up front will count.

Offense

QUARTERBACK—By now, Bob Berry doesn't have to apologize for lack of height. He's gully flinger with high accuracy ratio but still gets intercepted too much. Rating—B.

RUNNING BACKS—Enough around for continuous relay service. Jim Butler, Art Malone rate starting roles off last season. Malone's heavy duty type and classy receiver, as well. Joe Profit, top draftee hurt most of last year, is expected to contribute more. They've been down on Harmon Wages, but he's versatile type. Rating—B+.

Defense

LINE—Topflight at the ends, with Claude Humphrey, John Zook. Humphrey makes lot of verbal noise, backs it up physically. Big drop at tackles, where John Small could still develop and hope for help is wrapped around rookie Roosevelt Manning, who needs lot of work. Rating—B.

LINEBACKERS—Return of Tommy Nobis, whose knee mended without surgery, should be blessing enough. Actually, Falcons discovered Don Hansen could do just as good job in middle. But Don's happy to return to corner role, teaming with Greg Brezina. Rating—B+.

SECONDARY—All-Star camp injury to top draftee Clarence Ellis puts crimp in plans. He was down for free safety role. If they were all like Ken Reaves, a Falcon original whom they tout all-league as corner man, there'd be no worries. But Van Brocklin wants to see more hard-nosed tackling. Rating—B-.

Prediction

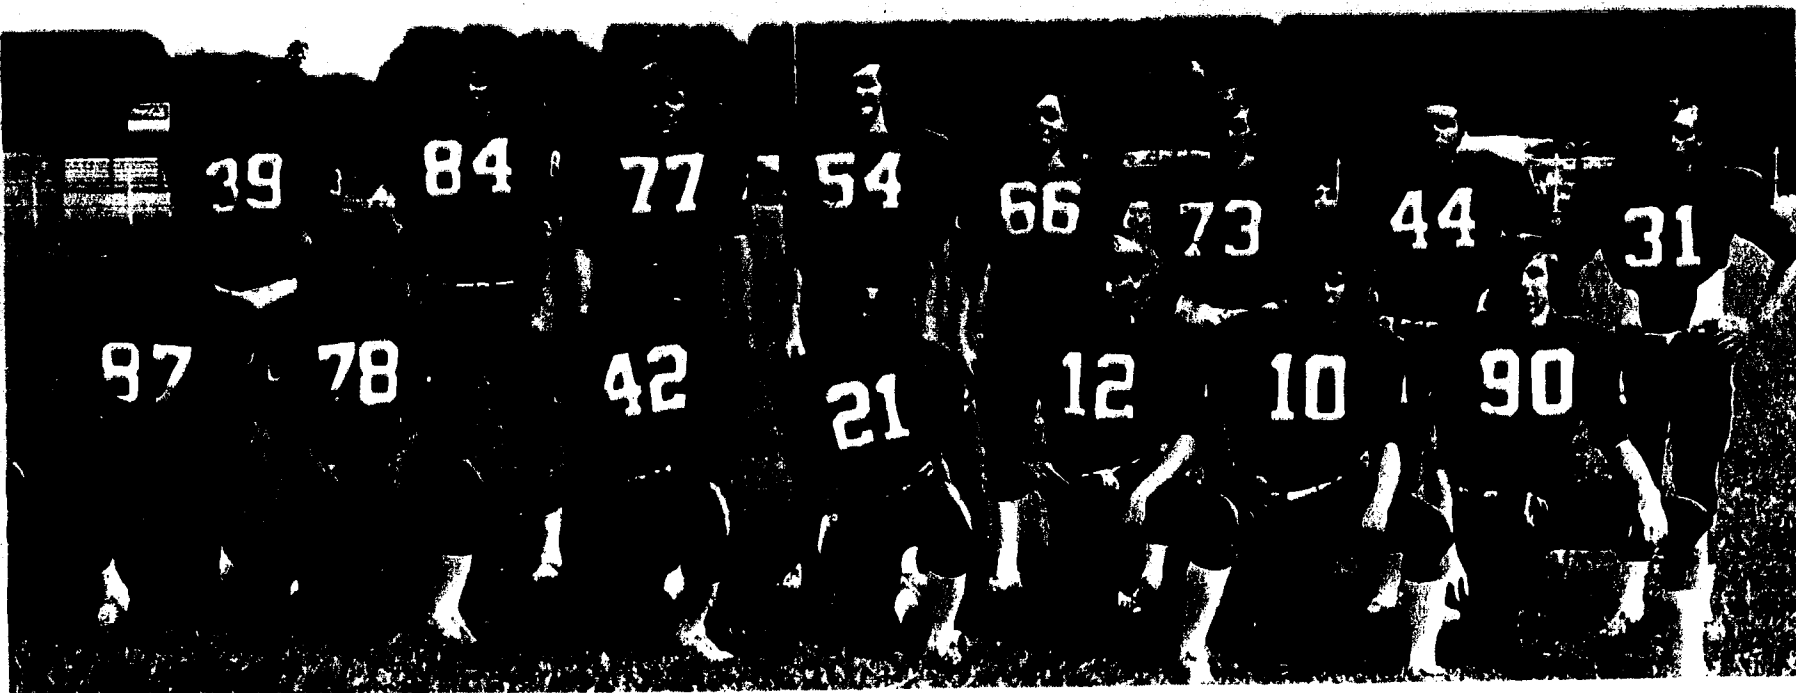

Third in division. But they're in best shape ever to make it as bona fide title threat.

'72 may be Chiefs 'year'

KANSAS CITY (AP) — The Kansas City Chiefs may come up with the best team they've ever had this National Football League season, says Hank Stram, the Chiefs' coach who guided them to three titles in the old American Football League and to the world championship in 1970.

Stram has one major objective for the new campaign: "We must regain the world championship, and that is the goal we will dedicate ourselves to in 1972."

The Chiefs need to improve their specialty teams, mainly kickoff and punt returns, and find a running back who can grind out the yardage with the same authority as Ed Podolak and Wendell Hayes.

SENIOR BOBCATS—15 seniors will be playing for the Bobcats in 1972. Seniors are: kneeling from left to right, Claude Pryor, Larry Hendrix, Jerry Jackson, Ricky Brown,

St. Louis has a 'matching' problem in decking quarterbacks

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The St. Louis Cardinals prided themselves in allowing National Football League opponents to pin their quarterbacks for losses only 19 times during the 1971 season.

The only problem was that the Cardinals, a title challenger in 1970, were able to nail other teams' quarterbacks only 20 times themselves and went on to a dismal 4-9-1 season.

"We want to improve our overall defense in terms of getting bigger plays," said Coach Bob Hollway.

"If our offense doesn't move the ball, we must be capable of turning a game in our favor with our defense."

A pass rush, then, looms as the top target for improvement with the Cardinals, although improved receiving and the bolstering of the running rate not far behind.

To fortify the front four, Hollway has moved nine-season veteran Chuck Walker from end to tackle, where he joins Bob Rowe and Fred Heron, and has given a strong trial to 6-foot-6 rookie Martin Imhof as Walker's replacement at defensive right end.

Ron Yankowski, who started as a rookie last season, should be improved at his defensive left end position and Hollway has a much deeper assortment of linebackers than last year.

Opponents' passing produced more yards against a seasoned Cards defensive secondary in 1971 than in 1970 but scored fewer touchdowns despite numerous injuries, an adjustment to almost exclusively zone assignments and the presence of rookies Larry Willingham and Norm Thompson.

Eight-season veteran Miller Farr is back at left cornerback, Roger Wehrli returns at right corner and 34-year-old Larry Wilson has moved to left safety in place of departed Jerry Stovall to make the secondary the least of Hollway's worries.

While the changes in the defense have been few, Cards opponents will be looking at as many as six new faces when the team goes on the attack.

Discouraged by dropped passes and a running attack that failed to produce an outside threat in 1971, Hollway traded away power running backs MacArthur Lane and Cid Edwards and wide receivers John Gilliam and Dave Williams.

In their place he brought in Leon Bruns from San Diego and Donny Anderson from Green Bay to man the running back posts, acquired rangy Walker Gillette as a receiver and obtained veteran quarterback Gary Cuozzo from Minnesota.

Cuozzo, who Hollway obtained for his experience and play selections, will battle Jim Hart for the starting role. The team may have three quarterbacks since 28-year-old rookie Tim Van Galder has shown pre-season promise.

Rookie Bobby Moore of Oregon at wide receiver and second-year guard Dan Dierdorf are the other new faces likely to appear with the offense.

The Cards also have one of the NFL's speediest receivers in Mel Gray, and increased depth in the backfield with the acquisition of Craig Baynham and return of John Roland and Roy Shivers.

Bob Reynolds and Ernie McMillan, who combine 22 years of experience at offensive tackle, still form some of the NFL's best protection and Jackie Smith returns for a 10th season as a respected and punishing tight end.

Imhof, linebackers Mark Arneson and Rocky Wallace, defensive ends Tom Beckman and Council Rudolph and running back Bill Taylor, acquired from the Atlanta Falcons, are among the squad's more promising newcomers.

"I suppose our biggest objective on offense is to cut down on mistakes," said Hollway, whose team lost of 20 of 35 fumbles and had 26 passes intercepted a year ago. "Teams that don't make mistakes are usually teams that are going to win."

American Conference: Central Division
PITTSBURGH STEELERS

Chuck Noll

PROSPECTUS—A team acquiring togetherness. Chuck Noll starts his fourth year as boss, and this is his squad for most part. There's been steady, if slow progress. Whether Steelers make it to top depends largely on prodigy Terry Bradshaw, who's has two tough years under his belt. There's good reason for optimism.

OFFENSE

QUARTERBACK—Still a straight-arrow version of Joe Namath is how they figure Terry Bradshaw. Lively battle between Terry Hanratty, Bob Leahy for the backup job. Loser will probably be traded. Rating—B+.

RUNNING BACKS—Can start with same duo of Frenchy Fuqua, Preston Pearson. Neither, however, is the heavy duty type, and holder Warren Bankston, big enough, doesn't look like more than a spare. So there's fine opportunity for top draftee Franco Harris, a bull, to work into regular job by midseason. Steve Davis another good-looking rookie. Rating—B.

WIDE RECEIVERS—Very strong department, with Ron Shanklin (underrated) and Dave Smith the starters, but Frank Lewis, injury-hampered as rookie, ready to come on. Also a surprise kid in Nate Hawkins. Rating—B+.

TIGHT END—Would be something if Dave Smith were amenable to switch. But he's not. So they'll go with incumbent Bob Adams (good blocker, mediocre receiver), pushed by impressive rookie John McKin. Rating—B-.

LINE—Lacks depth, particularly at the tackle spots. Could wind up with a rookie, Gordon Gravelle, as regular, leaving old John Brown as the swing man—Jon Kolb's the other starter. Sam Davis, Bruce Van Dyke set at guards. Ray Mansfield, in 10th year, gets first call at center. Rating—B.

DEFENSE

LINE—Young, aggressive unit. Mean Joe Greene at tackle alone makes it that way. L. C. Greenwood at left most improved man up front. Year of experience should help Dwight White on other flank. Ben McGee, Lloyd Voss alternate at tackle. But Greene's the guy who scares people. Rating—B-.

LINEBACKERS—Terrific at both corner spots, with Andy Russell on the right one of the fine pros in the game and Jack Ham on the left destined to be one of the great ones. Ham has native instinct. Chuck Allen gets by in the middle on his smartness. Rating—B+.

SECONDARY—Potential problem area unless a couple of rookies, Lorenzo Brinkley and Dennis Meyer, come on fast to provide aid this season. Main asset of the holdovers, led by strong safety Chuck Beatty, is that they've been together a while. Rating—B-.

KICKING—No worries at all. Roy Gerela was distinct asset as place-kicker last year and Bobby Walden is one of the premier punters around. Rating—B-.

SPECIAL TEAMS—Tinkering around to get some of the young, fast kids on the special units. Mustler like Rocky Bleier (spare runner) helps plenty. Harris and Davis of running corps will be available for return duty. Rating—B.

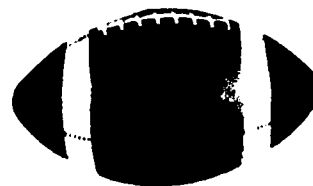

PREDICTION

First in Division. Not so much on Steelers' potency but the competition isn't all that good.

David Johnson, Robie Boyd, Buddy Ingram, and Jacky Barker.

A coach comments on his players

Hope High School Coach Gaylord Solomon this week assessed the 1972 Bobcat football team:

Seniors

Ricky Hart—A two year letterman, a hard worker and a good leader.
Robie Boyd—A winner with a lot of poise.
Buddy Ingram—An athlete who has the ability to play several positions.
Mike Waters—A hard worker who is steadily improving.
Jerry Jackson—Coming back after a 2 year layoff, will improve.
Larry Hendrix—Hard worker, needs experience.

Jackie Barker—Rapidly improving, will see a lot of action.
Paul Bazar—Transfer from Arkansas High will give valuable help to the line.
David Williams—Coming back after a 2 year layoff will improve.
Mike Downs—A 2 year letterman who gives valuable leadership to the line.
Kenny Roach—A transfer from Liberty Eylau who loves to play.
Wade Harris—All around good lineman with leadership ability.
Mark Pendergraft—A hard-worker who needs experience.
Melvin Weston—Got a late start but we are expecting a lot from him.

Claude Pryor—First year to play, has already earned a starting position.
Eddie Ricky Brown—Small in size but "very" big in desire and spirit.
Robert Stone—Transfer from SoSo Mississippi, got a late start but will improve.

Juniors

Tim Hogan—Has improved regularly.
Stan Nix—Transfer from Ashdown, a real competitor.
Gerald Coleman—Will give a lot of help to the defense.
Harold Collins—One of a few returning starters on the offensive line.
Bud Martin—Has the potential to be like his brother,

Artis

David Huddleston—A competitor who has the ability to play several positions.
Jack Still—A hard worker who will improve and give depth.
Robin Lee—Will improve with continued hardwork.
David Johnson—A hard worker with tremendous natural ability.
Jimmy Smith—Loves to play defense.
Teddy Price—A hitter who will improve

Levester Stuart—A competitor who will see a lot of action.
Sammy Wyatt—A hard worker who will continue to improve.
Gary Rhodes—Gives added depth with his winning attitude.
Rusty Pendergraft—Hard worker with a lot of desire.

Sophomores

Tim Boyd—Definitely a prospect with a future.
Thomas Williams—A hard worker who's not afraid to hit.

Eugene Tyree—Coming into his own, a pleasant surprise.
Larry Butler—Had great two-a-days.
Don Still—A good hustler who loves the game.
Jud Martindale—Improving rapidly, will see a lot of action.
Larry Johnson—Has the ability, will improve.
Jim Rhodes—Loves the game, could start as a sophomore.
Mike Butler—Will improve with experience.
Clay O'Steen—Will improve because of his desire to play.
Jerry Martin—Will be a big help in the future.
Edward Marshall—Works hard, has a lot of desire.
Mike Powell—Has come a long way, will continue to improve.
James Robinson—Has a lot of ability, will help in the secondary.
Willard Willmon—A hitter who loves the game.
Tim Hart—Works hard will continue to improve.
Rusty Cole—Has improved greatly.

George Allen

PROSPECTUS — Juggling George Allen really revved up Redskins with his trading and proved you can assemble instant veteran team. But George's clubs have history of not lasting in long season. Still, you have to admire new direction of club. Relatively inactive in trade mart and with no draft to speak of, Skins will rely on some complement that boosted them in '71.

OFFENSE

QUARTERBACK—Sound Sonny Jurgensen doesn't necessarily mean he'll get first call. Can't overlook what Billy Kilmer did for 'em last year. It's nice competitive situation. Rating—B+.

RUNNING BACKS—You start with Larry Brown, among best in NFL, and Charlie Harraway, who's got the blocking size. Now you add George Nock, an ex-Jet who's got a knack for the goal line. Rating—B+.

WIDE RECEIVERS—Putting Charley Taylor, Roy Jefferson on field at same time is like casting Raquel Welch, Sophia Loren in same opus. The opposition has to gasp. Taylor is coming off cracked ankle but he should be O.K. Clifton McNeil can always fill in. Rating—A.

TIGHT END—They always say Jerry Smith is not built big enough for tight end but who needs size the way he can catch the ball. They have John Hilton to help out in blocking department. Rating—B.

LINE—Knee injury to tackle Jim Snowden messed up early plans. Could mean some juggling, like moving Ray Schoenke from guard. Otherwise it's an adequate veteran ensemble, built around the center play of Len Hauss. Rating—B.

DEFENSE

LINE—Stabilized last year with three veterans acquired in trades—Ron McDole and Verlon Biggs at the ends, Diron Talbert at tackle. Blended with Manny Sistrunk, a powerful young tackle. McDole's the only one over 30, so they'll be together a while. Spot young Jimmie Jones for extra pass rush. Rating—B+.

LINEBACKING—It's a question when age starts to catch up with trio that has combined experience of 31 seasons—Myron Pattios in middle, Jack Pardee and Chris Hanburger at corners. Got Rocky Rosema as free agent to help out. This is vulnerable department of team. Rating—B.

SECONDARY—Age factor here, too, with Pat Fischer (32) and Richie Pettibon (34). Now they've added old Rosey Taylor (34) to safety corps—he used to team with Pettibon on Bears. Age is balanced out by vigor of Mike Boss at corner (eight interceptions) and Brig Owens at free safety. Rating—B.

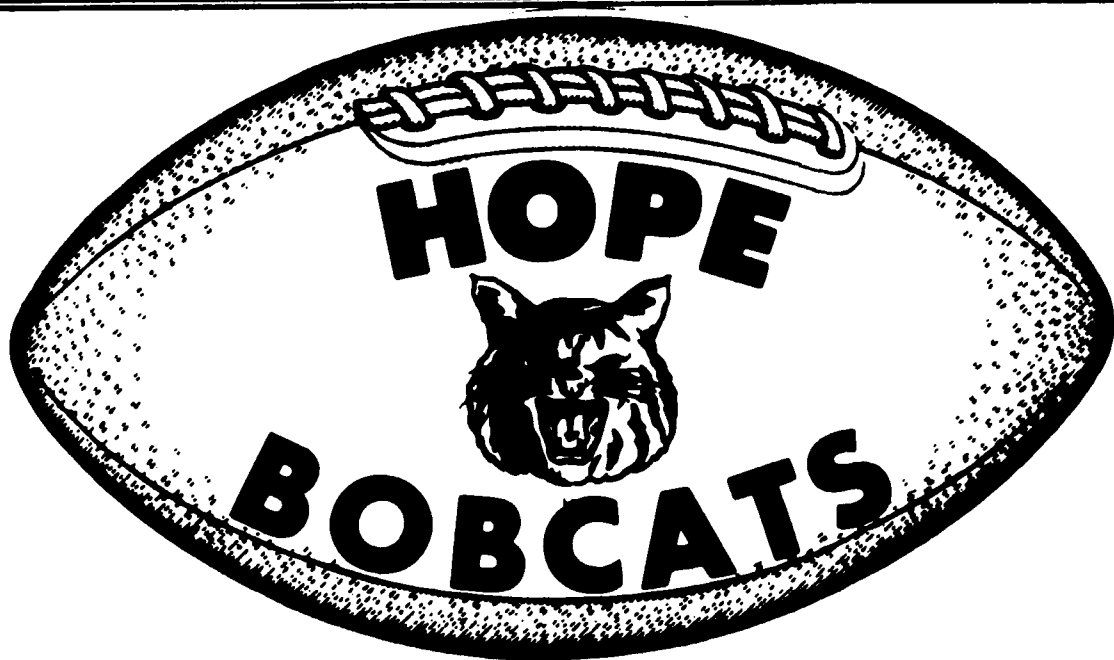

KICKING—Curt Knight had super year, leading conference in scoring. Mike Bragg is competent punter. Rating—B+.

SPECIAL TEAMS—Allen picked up Alvin Haymond from Rams to lend thrills to kick returns. If he can duplicate what Speedy Duncan did last year, they'll keep other teams on edge. Rating—B.

Gifford deserves a spot in pro football Hall of Fame

By MURRAY OLDERMAN

SAN FRANCISCO—(NEA)—In due time, presumably, his name will be enrolled in the Professional Football Hall of Fame at Canton, O., shrine of the pros. Until then he'll draw his benefits from the residuals of peeking into refrigerators and serving as interlocutor while Howard and Dandy Don banter on fall Monday evenings.

It'll be a while longer before people appreciate fully that Frank Gifford, with the new hair styling and the low key personality, was one of the great football players of his or any other time.

Two years have passed since Frank became eligible for the Hall of Fame voting, by representative members of the Pro Football Writers Association. The 1972 class of inductees recently announced was the smallest ever—four! No Gifford.

It had two men eligible for the first time—Gino Marchetti, the greatest defensive end ever, and Ollie Matson, a superb running back. It also had Lamar Hunt, with the boldness to invent the American Football League—and the millions to do it with. And finally there was Ace Parker, a vintage single-wing tailback who played five years in the National Football League and a couple more in the defunct All-America Conference.

Gifford played 12 pressure-cooker years with the New York Giants. In six of them they were the dominant team in the Eastern Conference of the NFL. More than that, Frank was a symbol.

He was the first great star of the television age of football, the handsome hero of the '56 World Champs who had just moved into Yankee Stadium, the most valuable player in the game.

If that sounds like standard puffery, you could, as Casey Stengel says, look it up. A little basic research puts Gifford into perspective.

So far, 18 running backs have been included among the men voted into the Pro Football Hall of Fame since 1963, when the Hall was established.

Only six of them gained more yards rushing in the course of their careers than Frank Gifford. The Giant halfback carried the ball farther than either Bronko Nagurski, Red Grange, Charlie Trippi, Bill Dudley or Ernie Nevers, to name a few. Also Ace Parker.

For total offensive yardage—rushing and receiving—only two men with busts in Canton exceeded him! Jim Brown and Joe Perry. Only two of the 18 backs scored more touchdowns! Again, Brown and Perry.

And yet, of his 12 seasons as a pro, Frank spent the first two primarily as a defensive back. He devoted the next seven to playing halfback on offense. He closed out his career with three seasons as a receiver exclusively. His yardage on the ground and in the air was 9,043, and he scored 78 touchdowns, with field goals boosting his total to 484 points. Frank also threw 14 touchdown passes.

The figures cited exceed those of Matson, who played two more seasons than Gifford, on all counts. (Of course, it's argued validly that Frank played on better teams than Ollie most of his career.)

The idea here isn't to knock down the people already voted into the Canton showplace. Gifford really wasn't a record-setting type. He never led the league in anything. But he was one of the most versatile, valuable players of his period, which was the breakthrough time for pro football as a national spectacle.

Because he sits up there placidly (on the surface) in a broadcasting booth, looking handsome and professional, racking up the bucks, there's a tendency to forget how it all started for Frank. He had to scratch for acceptance because he was never too big nor too fast. But he was smart and made the big play when it had to be made. Like a one-hand diving catch against the Pittsburgh Steelers which preserved a division-winning triumph for the Giants.

He was just a real playing pro.

YOU'VE COME A LONG WAY, FRANK. It has been more than 20 years since Frank Gifford first earned national attention as a college star at the University of Southern California. Left, Gifford went on to play 12 years of pro football with the New York Giants. (Gifford, still wearing No. 16, celebrates a 1958 Giant win with place kicker Pat Summerall, No. 88, and end Bob Schneider. In center photo.) And now, with a new hair-do and a new low key personality, he is the debonair sportscaster and commercial pitchman who is a familiar figure on network television.

Longer locks at A&M

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (AP) — Halfback Mark Green has a mustache that makes him look like a young Errol Flynn. Linebacker Grady Hoermann has hair over his ears like a sheepdog.

Tight end Homer May slouches past with his shirt tail out and his long locks flying in the breeze. A co-ed glances at him admiringly.

The campus isn't Yale or Harvard or even Texas.

It's Ole Army, Aggieland, that last of the conservative strongholds, Texas A&M University.

The above mentioned are football players. No longer is the length of their locks a concern. The discipline is centered on performances in Kyle Field.

The Emory Bellard regime is here. The bond between Bellard, a former assistant at Texas, and his players has reached a certain soul-brother status as the Aggies prepare for their opener against Wichita State Sept. 9.

"Coach Bellard is a disciplinarian but we can relate to him," says May, a 230-pounder with all-conference potential. "There's no generation gap. He's up with the times. And does he know football!"

Added May, "He's a perfectionist. He has football down to the exact inch where you line up. It's unbelievable what he knows."

Bellard, a pipe-smoking mod dresser, brought the Wishbone T offense from Texas to Aggieland. Bellard and Texas Coach Darrell Royal parlayed the Wishbone into a national championship with that offense.

Bellard was instrumental in making the triple option hum. And he brought some loosening of rules which make former Coach Gene Stallings' tight-reined regime look like a police state.

Bellard told the players to vote on their own hair code. They did and Bellard did told the squad as long as the hair is kept neat—okay.

"Coach Bellard met a happy medium with us," said May. "He knows we won't take advantage of it. This is a much more relaxed team now. It's the kind of team that will get better every day and every game. We are more relaxed on and off the field. The coach really seems like a part of the team. Everybody is enjoying football much more."

The Aggies are loaded with talent, including such sensational freshmen as halfback Bubba Bean and split end Robert Osborne.

Bellard says "It's a battle against time" for us to get our system installed. He says the Aggies could be tough "if we get it grooved."

Grooved. It's been a long time since anyone has talked like that down here. Some feel it's just a case of A&M finally catching up with the times.

The performance of the football team will be the answer.

ST. LOUIS CARDINALS

Bob Hollway

PROSPECTUS—Bob Hollway had rocky debut as head man last year. Now he's wiping out old gang of Cards via trades. There'll be new look especially on offense, where there should be half a dozen new starters. This kind of personnel shuffling has its hazards, though. Guys need time to work together. Another rocky year in prospect.

OFFENSE

QUARTERBACKS—Jimmy Hart and Pete Beathard got ample chance last year. Tipoff on Hollway's thinking is trade for Gary Cuozzo, astute but sometimes brittle. Rating—B—.

RUNNING BACKS—Swept away last year's duo of Cid Edwards and MacArthur Lane to bring in Donnie Anderson from Green Bay, Leon Burns from San Diego. Latter has the muscles but never got much chance. He'll have to beat out Johnny Roland. For speed, can always use top draftee Bobby Moore in running role. Rating—B—.

WIDE RECEIVERS—Also complete turnover here. Little Mel Gray, with rabbit speed, gets shot at full time job. Walker Gillette from Chargers will be on other side, or maybe Moore. Rating—C+.

TIGHT END—Cards didn't realize how much Jackie Smith meant to them until he got knee trouble. Ranga Jackie returns good as new, good as they come. Rating—B+.

LINE—The tackles have been anchored for more than decade by Ernie McMillan and Bob Reynolds. It'll still be that way. But the inside look is changing. Now Iv Goode's gone from guard post. The future in the middle belongs to people like guard Dan Dierdorf, who debuted impressively in '71. Rating—B—.

DEFENSE

LINE—Big pass rusher desperately sought but so far it looks futile. Veteran of unit is Chuck Walker, who has been moved inside to tackle, his original position. Cards lost Rolf Krueger, who played out option. Brightest prospect is Ron Yankowski, who won regular job at end last year as rookie. Rating—C+.

LINEBACKERS—Pretty well set in two spots, with Larry Stallings on the strong side and Jamie Rivers in the middle. Stallings, now in 10th season, has improved with age, is one of smartest defensive players around. Rivers always has been a hitter. Rating—B—.

SECONDARY—Most settled area on team. Roger Wehrli is top talent of unit, playing right corner. An all-league type. At 34, Larry Wilson has gone down a notch but still commands respect as free safety. He's a playing coach now. Miller Farr at left corner, Larry Willingham round out quartet. Rating—A—.

KICKING—Continue to get above-average share of field goals from Jim Bakken after decade of service. Chuck Latourette's punting fell off, has been supplanted by left-footed Donnie Anderson. Rating—B—.

SPECIAL TEAMS—Vulnerable to breakaways last year, requires more concentration. Good enough on returns with Gray deep man on kickoffs, Wehrli on punts. Rating—C+.

PREDICTION

Fourth in Division. Unsettled state of Cards signals another losing season.

Trying to pick the state champion

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Little Rock Hall's fans, who have come to expect perfection, should be satisfied this fall.

The Warriors are strong favorites in Class AAAA and are picked on top in the preseason polls. Hall has experience, ability and a tradition that spoils its fans.

The Warriors' record since 1959 is 113-24-4 and the worst record they ever had was 6-4 in 1965. C. W. Keopple's second as head coach. Under Keopple the Warriors are 71-13-1.

"Unless we get a lot of injuries this squad could make it all the way," Keopple said. "We've got more experience players returning than we've had in several years. But it's always hard to win in our league."

Class AAAA includes the schools with the largest enrollment in the state.

Keopple has decided on linebacker turned quarterback Eddy Peters to handle the Warriors' wishbone.

"He doesn't have the great speed, but he's a fine wishbone quarterback," Keopple said. "He runs the option as well as any quarterback we've had."

Keopple is looking at Greg Martin, David Mille and Ken Smith (4.6 speed in the 40) at running back. He is also toying with the idea of moving tackle Leotis Harris (6-2, 235) to fullback for more blocking power.

If Harris remains at tackle, the Warriors should be formidable up front. Tackle Steve Geiger, center Lou Schaefele and linebacker Jon Velasco are also highly regarded.

Should the Warriors falter, there are numerous challenges.

Fort Smith Northside, Little Rock Catholic and Little Rock Parkview have winning programs. North Little Rock Ole Main has the makings for a top-notch passing and Little Rock Central has the Robinson boys. El Dorado may have a depth problem. North Little Rock Northeast 4-7 last year and Coach Paul Clark says he expects a better season. Pine Bluff has a new coach in Harold Tilley and is an unknown quantity.

Northside and Central also have new coaches, but the athletes' names are more familiar.

Tom Crovella has taken over at Northside and he has a tough act to follow. The Grizzlies were 11-1 last year and shared the conference championship with Little Rock Catholic. Their meal ticket of 1971, Roger Carter, is gone. The answer may be Steve Shepherd, a 5-8, 180-pounder who gained more than 600 yards rushing last season.

Tackles Ray Copeland and Charles Berlau, defensive guard Ted Bishop and safety

Larry Linson for the nucleus for a solid defense.

Like Hall, Northside has tradition.

"We believe around here we can win," Crovella says. "And we play that way until someone beats us."

Catholic moved from AAA to AAAA last year and surprised by gaining a share of the conference title. Quarterback Terry Blaylock is among the departed, but Loss is confident Ricky Kyle can do the job.

"We think he will move right in and take over," Loss said. "He showed last year he has that kind of ability. He was the leader in our secondary."

The running back possibilities include Pat Longinotti, Pat Edleman, Conrad Bradburn and Ted Rice.

Jim Yarberry and Wayne Pavan are top-rated linemen.

Parkview is trying to accomplish what the Rockets did, advance to the state's top classification and win a championship.

The Patriots were jolted when 6-3, 285-pound tackle Eddie Gordon had to pass up his senior year because of personal problems.

Coach Sam Goodwin says the Patriots will go with the I.

"He would have the key to our defense," said Coach Sam Goodwin. "Folks would look at him and just decide that they couldn't run against him."

Coach Sam Goodwin says the Patriots will go with the I formation and hope Mark Rushing and Charles Adcock can be punishing runners.

The quarterback figures to be Bucky Lane, an impressive passer.

Ole Main, formerly North Little Rock, hopes to take advantage of the special talent of split receiver Bruce Woolridge.

"I've never seen a high school athlete capable of running the kind of pass patterns he does," says Coach Henry Hawk. "I've never seen him miss a pass that he should have caught."

Hawk is also high on receivers Joe Carter and Ray Harvey.

Stan McClure, who started part of the time last year, will probably be the quarterback.

Fullback Duke Briley and tailback Charles Walker figure to handle the brunt of the running attack. Noseman Charles Jefferson and tackle Phillip Doakes could be great, Hawk says, but the team will probably be the smallest in the conference.

Joe Fred Young is the new coach at Central and he'll count heavily on Will Robinson. Robinson, who has 9.8 speed, gained more than 800 yards last year. His brother, Eddie, ran 9.7 last year and started at split receiver as a sophomore.

The quarterback will be Ralph Bradbury.

The Tigers, however, figure to be at a disadvantage having to learn a new system under Young.

"Our offense will be entirely different from what Central played last year, and the defense will be almost entirely different Young said.

El Dorado was 5-5 last year and Coach Don Horton says "we accomplished more in the spring than we ever have."

He says the problem is "I don't know if we've got the muscle to compete." Earl Williams and Victor Jackson should be the top ball carriers.

The new coach at Pine Bluff is Harold Tilley, who was hired in early spring.

John Shiver played both ways last year, but hopefully he'll be used only on offense this year. Junior George Makris figures to be the quarterback.

The junior high teams at Pine Bluff last year were outstanding and Tilley may use several sophomores this fall.

Clark at Northeast expects big things of Bruce Mitchell, converted from the secondary to tailback. Mitchell is 6-3, weighs 185 and has excellent speed.

The quarterback will be either Mark Bone or Chp Hoxie. Defense was the Chargers' strong point last year and Clark has six starters back.

SWC LEADER

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark.—Quarterback Joe Ferguson is the first Arkansas athlete to lead the Southwest Conference in total offense since Lamar McHan in 1953. Ferguson had 2,777 yards in 444 plays and McHan had 293 rushing and passing attempts for 1,516 yards. Kay Eakin is the only other Razorback ever to lead the league in this category, he had 312 plays for 1,344 yards in 1939.

LOOKING DOWN THE SCRIMMAGE LINE

Philadelphia Eagles appear destined to fight for third place

READING, Pa. (AP) — The Philadelphia Eagles, despite the supreme optimism of their owner and general manager, appear destined to fight again for third place in the National Football League's National Conference East.

Eagles' owner Len Tose and General Manager Pete Retzlaff apparently have spent more time talking about improving the team than changing it. The Eagles will field virtually the same team—offensively and defensively—that posted a 6-7-1 record last season and edged crippled St. Louis and New York for third place. Tose and Retzlaff have labeled their team a contender for the championship. It's hard to justify such optimism when looking at the squad in training.

The Eagles still look like a good defense, no offense team that would do well to equal last year's record despite a better balanced schedule.

Head coach Eddie Khayat says his team is improved in every area from last year, but Khayat steers away from the use of the word contender.

Unless the defending champion Dallas Cowboys and runner-up Washington Redskins come back to the field, the Eagles should fight it out with the Cards and Giants in the lower echelon of the Eastern Division. Tose and Retzlaff gloss over the fact that two of the six victories in the team's last nine games in 1971 were over a demoralized New York Giants' team, two over injury decimated St. Louis and one over hapless Denver.

"We're a much better ball club at this time than we were last year at the same time," says Khayat, who took over as coach from fired Jerry Williams after the Eagles lost their first three 1971 games. "We did finish strong last year and we feel that we have improved in every area. We have more depth at every position than we had a year ago. Our defense finished strong and they're much better because they have that year of playing together. Our field goal kicker (Tom Dempsey) led the league in percentage. Tom McNeil led the NFC in punting last year, so we think our kicking game is strong."

Khayat's problem is his offense. He thinks it has improved, that the blocking by the backs will spring more long gainers. The Eagles have concentrated on the running game in pre-season training.

"We need the greatest improvement in our running game," Khayat admits.

Despite Khayat's optimism, the Eagles still lack a break-away runner, who can score from any point on the field. They still feature the crunching inside types—Jim Nance, Tom Woodshick, Larry Watkins, Lee Bougess, Tony Baker, Al Davis etc. The lack of an outside running game severely limits the offense led by quarterback Pete Liske.

Liske, a nine year pro veteran, has limited range as a passer. He throws the short pass well and handles the play action maneuver as neatly as any quarterback in the game.

His accuracy on the long pass seems to diminish with the distance. He has good catchers in wide receivers Harold Jackson, Ben Hawkins and Harold Carmichael, and tight ends Gary Ballman and Pete Lammons. Liske is handicapped in moving the team with the lack of an outside running threat.

The offensive line is the same as last season—Wade Key and Steve Smith the tackles, Jim Skaggs and Mark Nordquist at guards and Mike Evans the center. It has not demonstrated the ability to sustain a running game, although Khayat believes better blocking out of the backfield and by the receivers could improve his area.

Defense is the name of the game for the Eagles. In the last nine games of 1971, the defense allowed an average of 16.1 points per game. The backfield of cornerbacks Al Nelson and Nate Ramsay, strong safety Leroy Keyes and free safety Bill Bradley developed into a tough unit against both the pass and the run.

Bradley led the NFL with 11 interceptions. The front four of ends Richard Harris and Mel Tom and tackles Don Hultz and either Ernie Calloway or Gary Pettigrew, contained the rush and applied pressure on the opposing passer. Linebackers Ron Porter, Adrian Young and Steve Zabel played well. Zabel has moved to middle linebacker to replace the traded Tim Rosovich.

Khayat feels he has some live prospects among the rookies. No. 1 draft choice John Reaves, the former U. of Florida passer who set a career NCAA passing yardage record, has shown ability to throw the long ball under pressure. He'll back up Liske.

Offensive guards Tom Luken from Purdue and Vern Winfield from Minnesota have looked good in pre-season games. The Eagles also are impressed with running backs Ron "Po" James from New Mexico State and Tom Sullivan from Miami.

On defense, first year players who should make the squad include backs Bobby Majors of Tennessee, Pat Gibbs from Lamar and North Carolina linebacker John Bunting.

NEW YORK JETS

PROSPECTUS — Joe's back. That's all you've got to say. Now if he can stay whole, at $250,000 per, that immediately hypes entire club. Club still has some problems, particularly up front defensively, where they're light (literally). But never has one man meant more to a team just by his presence than Broadway Joe. This is probably Weeb Ewbank's last shot at another title.

Weeb Ewbank

OFFENSE

QUARTERBACK—If Namath can play, he's just the best there is. That says it all. But backup qb is another story. Bob Davis best of poor lot. Rating—A.

RUNNING BACKS—Even if Matt Snell were 100 per cent like in old days, he'd have trouble getting working time. John Riggins has moved in, definitely, as the fullback. With TD-sniffing Emerson Boozer his running mate. Cliff McClain, Steve Horkey will see action, too, because Weeb believes in rotating backs. Rating—B+.

WIDE RECEIVERS—Don Maynard's mighty old and Eddie Bell's mighty small. Which means they're looking for help. Young, versatile Gary Hammond has a chance. But big opportunity rests with top draftee Jerome Barkum, a reluctant reporter because of contract hassle. Rating—B—.

TIGHT END—Figure they've solved problem of third down threat with shift of big, fast Richard Coster from outside, freeing Pete Lammons for trade. Rating—B.

LINE—Many of the same old warriors at the same old stands. Like Winston Hill at tackle, Dave Herman and Randy Rasmussen at guards, John Schmitt at center—all Super Bowl '68 vets. The future rests with such as Dave Foley, George Kirksey, John Mooring. Anxiously sifting rookies, too. Rating—B.

DEFENSE

LINE—The kids are taking over. That means Mark Lomas and John Little, for starters. Roger Finnie, too, if he mends from injury in '71. Don't completely forget Gerry Philbin, the old all-pro, however, as a pass rusher. Key to whole unit is return of John Elliott at tackle. But none of them can overpower anybody. Rating—B—.

LINEBACKERS—All the old boys are back—Al Atkinson in middle, flanked by Larry Grantham and Ralph Baker—a unit that's been together for seven years. But the outside guys are now vulnerable to replacement, the threat coming principally from young Mike Taylor of Michigan. Rating—B.

SECONDARY—Maybe Steve Tannen, shifted to safety in third year, will justify early assessments of ability. They need some secondary talent comparable to Earlle Thomas, the fine young corner back, because the vets like W. K. Hicks, Gus Holloman are wearing down. Rating—B.

KICKING—Steve O'Neal slumped drastically as punter in '71, and Bobby Howfield flopped equally as placekicker. Latter's job particularly in jeopardy. Rating—C.

SPECIAL TEAMS—Another department in which Jets slumped year ago. Chris Fargasopoulos might still come on as return man. Rating—C.

Playing the role of Mr. Nice Guy

By TOM EMORY
Associated Press Sports Writer
Coach Harland Sware of the San Diego Chargers is finished playing the role of "Mr. Nice Guy."

Sware announced Tuesday that Duane Thomas, the talented but mysterious running back the Chargers acquired from Dallas, was being suspended and was subject to a fine of a $150 per day for not reporting to the National Football League team Monday.

"Duane Thomas was told to report to training camp by 6 o'clock Monday," said Sware. "He failed to report. He is suspended without compensation. He will be fined $150 each day he is absent."

San Diego gave up sophomore running back Mike Montgomery and second-year wide receiver Billy Parks to get Thomas. Both players had outstanding rookie seasons for the Chargers but Sware, who has said Thomas is the best running back in the NFL since Cleveland's Jimmy Brown, gave up permanent rights to them. Now, after a full month of training camp, Thomas has not practiced.

"I said at the time of the trade for Duane that it was a gamble, a roll of the dice," said the Chargers' coach "Whatever the outcome, I'm not going to look back. We have a good football team to get ready for the season."

Tuesday was cutdown day for the NFL teams. Each squad was to be reduced to 49 players plus rookies who played in the College All-Star Game. Another five players must be pared from each team by next Tuesday and, of course, the teams must reduce to a 40-player roster for their regular season openers.

Among the veterans put on waivers were running backs Woody Campbell and Mike Richardson by the Houston Oilers; tight end Ray Ogden and running back Bill Tucker by the Chicago Bears and defensive tackle Greg Lens by the Buffalo Bills.

Several players were placed on the injured-waiver list including linebacker Ike Kelley (knee) of Philadelphia, wide receiver Eldridge Dickey (shoulder) of Kansas City, safety Sandy Durko (knee) and quarterback Greg Cook (arm) of Cincinnati and defensive tackle Bill Staley (knee) of Chicago.

N. Y. Giants are a study in contrast

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Giants are a study in contrast as the National Football League season nears.

They've got one of the deeper pass-receiving corps but less-than-superior passers.

They've got one of the stronger linebacks and secondary defensive units—but one that has to be because of a line that could be as porous as a sieve.

And they've got one of the better running backs in the business, without too much to back him up.

The pass-catchers are, at wide receiver, Don Herrmann, Rich Houston and Bob Grim and, at tight end, Bob Tucker.

But Grim, who had his best year last season, became a holdout and signed only last week.

That, according to the Giants, cost him what would have been almost a guaranteed starting spot.

Grim came from the Minnesota Vikings along with quarterback Norm Snead in one trade that sent quarterback Fran Tarkenton back to the Vikes.

Now Grim will have to beat out Houston, who caught 24 passes for 426 yards and four touchdowns last season but showed an unfortunate tendency to drop costly tosses. Herrmann, more sure-handed but with less speed than Houston, grabbed 27 passes for 297 yards and a touchdown in 1971.

Tucker became the first tight end in NFL history last season to win a pass-catching title, leading the National Conference with 59 receptions for 791 yards and four touchdowns in only his second year in the league.

Throwing the ball to them will be either Snead or Randy Johnson, neither of whom has shown he has that undefineable quality of leadership. Snead is in his 11th pro year and Johnson in his sixth.

Johnson, the Giants' No. 2 passer last season behind Tarkenton, has been elevated to No. 1 and still holds that position despite being sidelined—possibly for the remainder of the exhibition schedule—with a collarbone separation.

Safeties Scott Eaton and Carl Lockhart and cornerbacks Pete Athas and Willie Williams anchor the New York secondary with Jim Files and Pat Hughes at outside linebacker and Ron Hornsby at middle linebacker.

The line, with a lack of depth last year that delighted opposition quarterbacks and runners, has been strengthened by the addition of Jack Gregory, obtained from Cleveland.

The Giants are counting heavily on the return to 1970 form of running back Ron Johnson, who rolled up 1,027 yards on 263 carries that year, only to be sidelined virtually the entire 1971 season by thigh and knee injuries.

AP football poll released

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Little Rock Hall, the heavy favorite in Class AAAA football this year, received 11 first-place votes and easily grabbed the No. 1 spot in the Associated Press preseason Arkansas high school football poll.

C. W. Keopple's Warriors missed the first-place spot on only one ballot cast by a panel of sportswriters and sportscasters in the Arkansas news media.

That vote went to Little Rock Parkview, which held the No. 2 spot. Hall had 112 total points in the poll and Parkview had 97.

Two more Class AAAA teams, Fort Smith Northside and North Little Rock Ole Main, held the Nos. 3 and 4 spots, but Hot Springs of Class AAA got the fifth spot.

LOS ANGELES RAMS

Tommy Prothro

PROSPECTUS—Things are happening, starting at the top. Carroll Rosenbloom acquired club, and he's used to winning. Tommy Prothro's had a year to convince the guy his ways are right. But got quick scare with collapsed lung of Roman Gabriel. Winning drive hinges on Gabe because behind there's nothing. Prothro also says, "Schedule appears to be better than last year." Lots of hope all around.

Offense

QUARTERBACK—This is fourth training camp for John Walton, QB of future. But for present it's got to be Gabriel or the Rams can forget '72. Rating—B.

RUNNING BACKS—Change in regime brought out best (1000 yards) in Willie Ellison. Set NFL single game record of 247. Has it all. Tough NFL types are Les Josephson, Larry Smith, who shared time at fullback. Rams got most long runs in dozen years in '71. Bob Thomas is sleeper to help out, along with rookie Jim Bertelson. Rating—A—.

WIDE RECEIVERS—Gabe's got to start throwing more to Lance Rentzel. Favored familiar Jack Snow last year. They've both got good size for split ends. So does Matt Maslowski, last year's spare, who is valuable on special teams. Long shot is ex-Redskin John Love. Rating—B+.

TIGHT END—Got one too many. Bob Klein figures to start because he's super blocker but doesn't catch much. UCLA product Bob Christiansen could make Pat Curran trade bait. Rating—B.

LINE—Running game pleased Prothro most in '71, and this is where it starts. Stable unit which adjusted to new system of flopping guards and tackles. All-pro honors generally go to Tom Mack but other guard Joe Scibelli, grades out even higher. Rookie with chance to stick on squad is Bobby Childs of Kansas. Rating—B+.

Defense

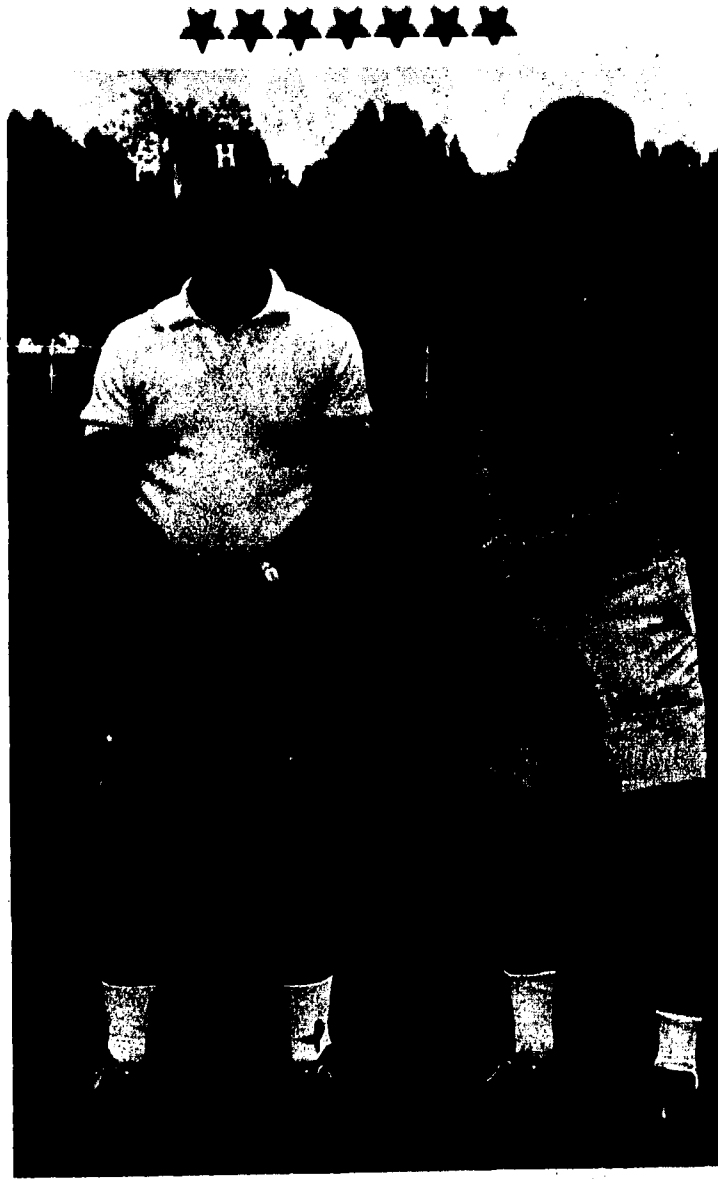

LINE—Fearsome foursome of old 50 per cent gone. Merlin Olsen'll feel lonely without Deacon Jones alongside. But Fred Dryer, ex-Giant, will match Deacon's quickness if not size. That's if he beats out Jack Youngblood. Weak spot is at tackle, where Merlin's little brother Phil needs lots of developing. Coy Bacon a standout end. Rating—B.

LINEBACKERS—Enough to stack three teams (started training with nine vets). But Isaiah Robertson, rookie whiz, has no competition on weak side. Marlin McKeever's got to be back in middle off '71 showing, with Jack Reynolds his stand-in. Open battle for strong slot. Rating—B+.

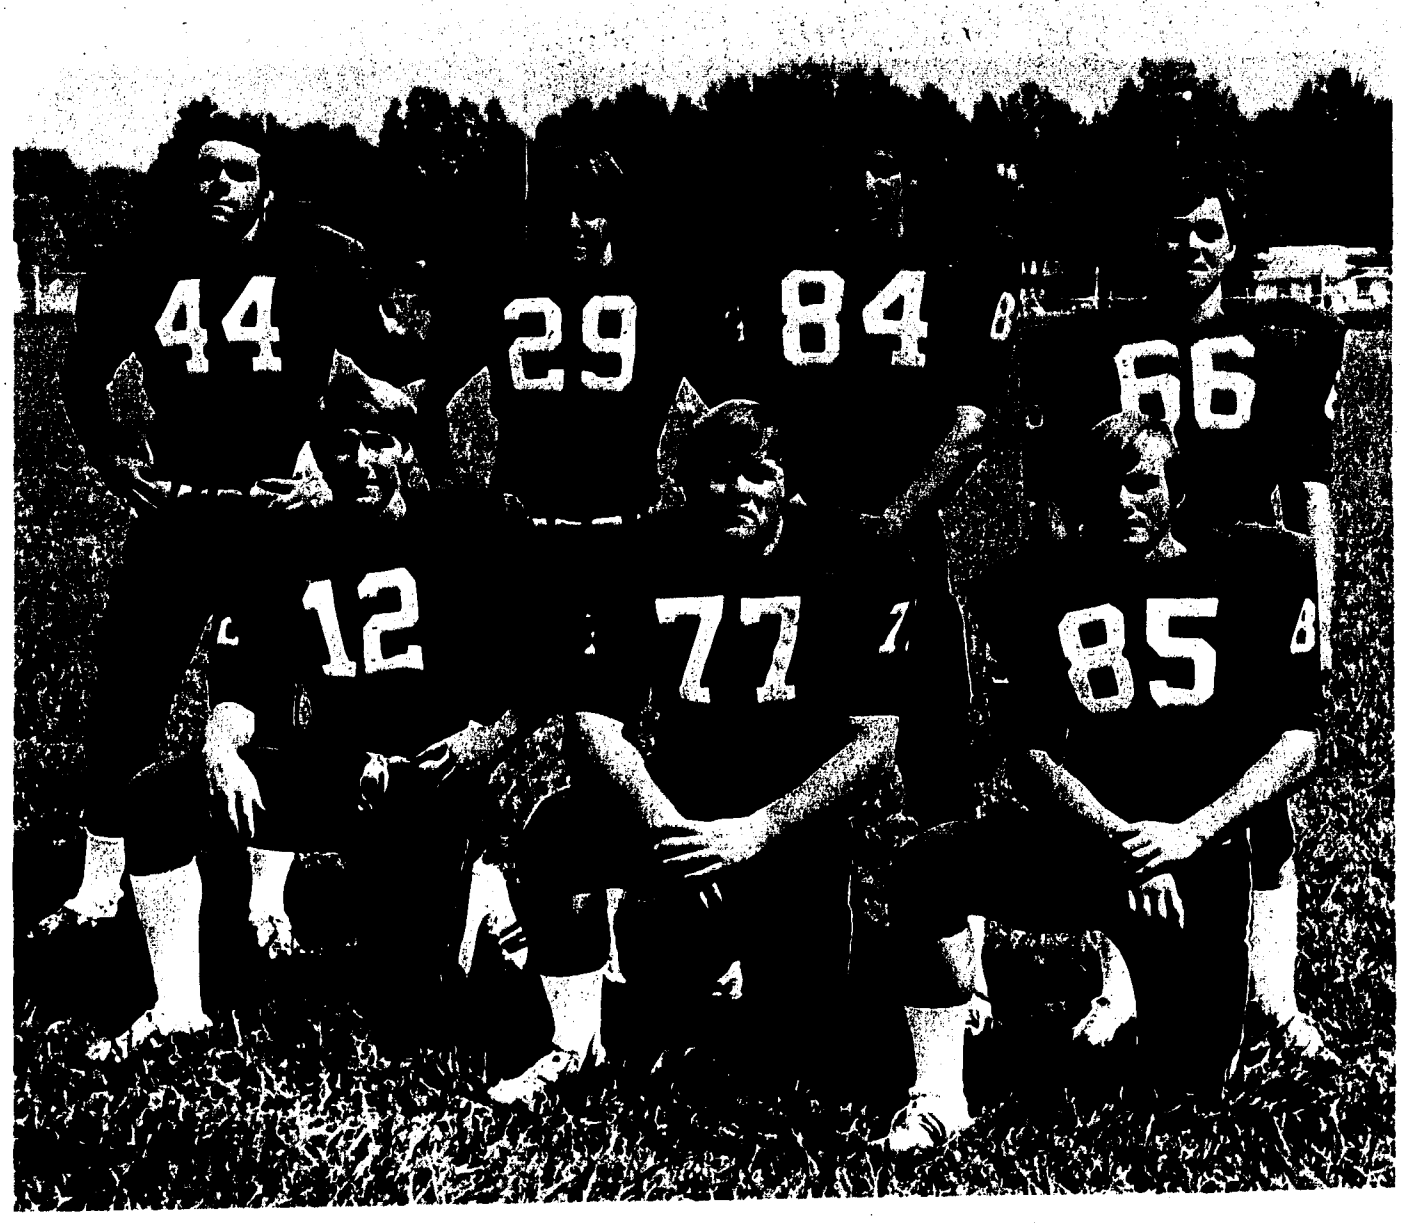

SECONDARY—Switched Dave Elmendorf from free to strong safety; Kermit Alexander vice versa. That's only to get Elmendorf set for his career, while Kermit, at 31, winds down. Gene Howard satisfies at one corner spot. Other could use help. Rating—B—.

KICKING—At 34, Pat Studstill no longer counted on to catch passes and will have to hustle to stick as punter. David Ray hangs on as field goal specialist. Rating—B.

SPECIAL TEAMS—Ace returner Alvin Haymond could have tough time sticking. Travis Williams will have to produce to hang on, too. Rating—B.

No waiting on 'biggies'

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — There will be no waiting around until midseason for the "biggies" on the high school football scene.

For example, the season opens Friday night and the competition is hot and heavy right off the bat.

Fort Smith Northside and Little Rock Parkview, two of probable AAAA powers, play at Fort Smith. Little Rock Catholic, another strong AAAA contender, meets Stuttgart, runner-up in the Class AA playoffs last year. Hot Springs, favored to repeat in AAA—West, plays Malvern, one of the favorites in 7AA.

Northside, which shared the AAAA title with Little Rock Catholic last year has a new coach—Tom Crovella—and a new running back—Steve Shepherd.

Crovella follows Charley Presley who won three conference titles. Shepherd is another in the long list of first class Northside backs.

Parkview is in AAAA after narrowly missing the AAA—West championship last year. The Patriots' prospects dimmed when giant tackle Eddie Gordon decided to pass up his senior season.

An important game for both, but Northside may have a slight edge at home.

NORTHSIDE 13, PARKVIEW 7.

Little Rock Catholic is among the four or five teams picked to push Little Rock Hall for the AAAA title.

Coach George Loss is counting on Ricky Kyle to take up where quarterback Terry Blaylock left off.

Stuttgart lost coach Max Graham along with 23 lettermen. Roger Benton, Graham's successor, may be in for a rough initiation.

CATHOLIC 20, STUTTGART 8.

Hot Springs Coach Bobby Hannon says the Trojans' offense could be better than that of the past two seasons. Malvern Coach David Alpe says the Leopards should be as strong as they were in 1971.

HOT SPRINGS 14, MALVERN 8.

Here are other predictions involving AAAA, AAA and AA teams around the state:

El Dorado 14, Texarkana 13; NLR Ole Main 20, Fort Smith Southside 13; Forrest City 13, Pine Bluff 7; Helena 20, Blytheville 6; Sylvan Hills 14, Jacksonboro 8; Jonesboro 7, Batesville 6; LR McClellan 19, Conway 13; West Memphis 13, Memphis White Station 7; Benton 14, Russellville 13; Fayetteville 20, Bentonville 14; Rogers 13, Springdale 12; St. Annes 20, Harrison 19; Berryville 13, Huntsville 8; Marshall 7, Mountain Home 6.

Siloam Springs 19, Gravette 7; Alma 13, Van Buren 7; Mena 20, DeQueen 14; Gosnell 14, Hardy Highland 13; Wynne 20, Newport 16; Osceola 15, Lepanto 8; Paragould 14, Rivercrest 8; Walnut Ridge 20, Pocahontas 15; Marion 13, Brinkley 8; LR Robinson 20, DeWitt 14; Parkin 23, Hughes 13; Marvell 20, Barton 13; Sheri 22, Pine Bluff Dollarway 8; Lake Hamilton 20, Magnet Cove 6; Morrilton 19, LR Mills 7.

DALLAS COWBOYS

Tom Landry

PROSPECTUS — They're the champs, and that means everything after all the years on the threshold. Coach Tom Landry still has some problems—like what to do with his quarterbacking. But overall the Cowboys are so well stocked that all teams thinking trade automatically turn to them for the overspill. Only threat to their reign is encroaching age, and they're meeting that, too, with new kids.

OFFENSE

QUARTERBACK—It's obvious they'll go with scrambling Roger Staubach over Craig Morton and continue to use messenger system. Roger's still got to pick up secondary receivers quicker. Rating—B—.

RUNNING BACKS—Only team like Cowboys could afford to give up Duane Thomas and scarcely feel it. The Walt Garrison-Calvin Hill combo does nicely, thank you. Watch for rookie Bob Newhouse, plus Mike Montgomery from Chargers. Rating—B+.

WIDE RECEIVERS—Just in case Lance Alworth starts showing age (32), they've now got Billy Parks to share time. Of course, Bob Hayes shows no sign of slowing up. Rating—A—.

TIGHT END—The Billy Truxx-Mike Ditka shuttle rumbles steadily along. Not spectacular, but they get the job done. Rating—B.

LINE—Return of Ralph Neely at tackle (after motorcycle injuries idled him in '71) most significant change. Rayfield Wright has to start getting some all-pro attention at right tackle. John Niland already gets his share of acclaim at guard. Rating—B+.

DEFENSE

LINE—Subtly moving to a new look. For most of last year, Pat Toomay was already alternating at end with George Andrie. Young Tody Smith has to start proving why he was a No. 1 draftee. But at the tackle posts, no one tampers with incomparable Bob Lilly, huge Jethro Pugh. Rating—A—.

LINEBACKING—Same old threesome of Lee Roy Jordan, Chuck Howley, Dave Edwards, now together for 10th year. Of course, Howley's 36 and might get breather from D.D. Lewis. From rookie crop, John Babinetz will be worked in. Rating—A—.

SECONDARY—Lots of age here, too, with Herb Adderley, Cornell Green, Mel Renfro all over 30. Most vulnerable of trio is Adderley, with high hopes for Mark Washington as his eventual successor. At the free safety spot, Cliff Harris stays shade ahead of Charlie Waters. Rating—B.

KICKING—Holdovers Mike Clark, Ron Widby both being pushed. Clark especially threatened as placekicker by soccer-styler Toni Fritsch. Rating—B.

SPECIAL TEAMS—Harris handled bulk of kick returns last year. But if they ever wanted to pose bigger threat, they can move in Hayes and Renfro. Rating—B.

Vibrant Viking wins Halas trophy

Carl Eller voted defense's best

FOR THE DEFENSE

By MURRAY OLDERMAN

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. — (NEA) — Carl Eller, sometimes called Moose, belongs to the improvisational school of acting. He practices his art on the playing fields of the Minnesota Vikings, and for the depth he brings to his role he has just won professional football's equivalent of the Oscar.

In a vote of the players of the National Football League, conducted by NEA, Carl Eller was named the recipient of the sixth annual George Halas Trophy as the outstanding defensive player in the game.

"Playing football is creating," says Carl. "It is creating an attitude."

And his attitude as a defensive end for the Vikings since being drafted first out of the University of Minnesota in 1964 is that he can get to any quarterback in the NFL. That's where the acting comes in. On the stage of live football action, sheer strength doesn't suffice, though Carl checks in at an imposing 6-6 and 250 pounds.

Eller, attacking aggressively from his left end position on the vaunted front four of the Vikings, must contend with a tackle trying to block him. In this thespian playlet, he charges to the outside, trying to get around the tackle. The tackle tries to shove him wider. Then the script suddenly changes. Carl veers to the inside. There's daylight. The retreating quarterback is confronted by the huge menacing figure of No. 81.

This act has been successful often enough to make Eller an all-pro choice for each of the last four seasons, and now it has vaulted him to the greatest esteem of all in the eyes of his peers.

The Minnesota defense ranked first in the National Football Conference during the regular 1971 season, largely due to that awesome quartet up front—Eller, tackles Alan Page and Gary Larsen, right end Jim Marshall. Page is at times the most spectacular operating from the inside, and it is significant that in the balloting for the Halas trophy, conducted with the help of the NFL Players Association, the agile tackle finished a close second to teammate Eller.

What Carl brings to the unit is a flair for the big play, the ability to break through at the crucial moment. He is the cornerstone of the Viking defense. He is an individualist performing in a team game, disciplined to its demands and yet asserting self through the passion and dedication of his play.

Defense has gained increasing recognition among the pros for its vitality and its effect on winning football. Personalities such as Carl Eller—who is just as vibrant off field as on, with his rain-bow-hued sarongs, mod bells and laced boots—contribute to the build-up.

NEA recognized the role of defense by establishing the George Halas Trophy, named for the NFL's venerable pioneer, in 1966. Larry Wilson, the original blitzing safety of the St. Louis Cardinals, was the first winner. End David (Deacon) Jones of the Los Angeles Rams gained top honors in 1967 and '69. The next two years were dominated by middle linebacker Dick Butkus of the Chicago Bears. Now the pendulum swings up front again with the selection of Eller.

He will be presented with his trophy at the NEA-CBS all-pro award ceremonies to be held in CBS Television City, Hollywood, on January 20.

MINNESOTA VIKINGS

PROSPECTUS — The colossus of the north picked up the one missing ingredient since last season—a man to lead them. As it was, no team in NFL won more games during regular season. Hard to see how anybody's going to head them off from fifth straight year of division domination. The quiet man, Bud Grant, still runs a taut, relentless ship.

OFFENSE

QUARTERBACK—Fran's the man. Tarkenton's return to Minnesota assures them leadership. The guys have already responded to him. He's feisty and durable. Bob Lee his backup. Rating—A—.

RUNNING BACKS—Lighter Oscar Reed, sans ankle problems, threatens to break up Clint Jones-Dave Osborn lock on starting jobs. Emphasis here is still more on busting up the gut than fancy stepping. They like young Ed Marinaro as future helper. Rating—B+.

WIDE RECEIVERS—Great injection of speed with John Gilliam coming from St. Louis to team with high-stepping Gene Washington. Latter will prosper with thrower like Tarkenton. John Henderson good guy to have around for emergency. Rating—B—.

DEFENSE

LINE—To most celebrated unit in game has come an extra dimension—tigerish emergence of Alan Page as most ferocious defender in game. Devastating on pass rush from inside. Carl Eller had big year at end and the old guys, Jim Marshall and Gary Larson, show no sign of let-up. Possible depth problem. Rating—A.

LINEBACKERS—Some problems last year with injury to Lon Warlick. He's back now, with four operations on right knee. News here, however, is rush of Jeff Siemon, top draftee, to become only rookie in Grant regime, besides Page, to get starting job. Corners still belong to Wally Hilgenberg, Roy Winston. Rating—B.

SECONDARY—Key performer is Charlie West, who can be starter at corner back but who emerged last year as top-flight strong safety. Plan is to keep him in latter job despite return of Karl Kassulke. Paul Krause had banner year as roaming safety. Amazing how Ed Shrockman, in 11th year, hangs on as starter at corner. Rating—B.

PREDICTION

First in Division. In fact, you could almost say they're looking ahead to playoffs.

BALTIMORE COLTS

Don McCafferty

OFFENSE

PROSPECTUS—End of an era when Carroll Rosenbloom swapped club for Rams. Theoretically shouldn't affect field performance. But some chinks are beginning to show in team that was impregnable two years ago. For one thing, Unitas can't go on forever. Don't shed any tears yet, however, for Don McCafferty and his veteran crew.

QUARTERBACK—No secret that Unitas' arm is fading; he's injury-prone. He's 39 years old. But his head still functions. Marty Domres waits in wings in Baltimore now. Rating—B.

RUNNING BACKS—The order changeth. Don McCauley virtual cinch to move ahead of old-timer Tom Matte as running mate of Norm Bulaich. Late season injury to latter really ruined Colts. Matte still handy, plus human bowling ball, Don Nottingham, and top draftee Lydell Mitchell. Rating—B+.

WIDE RECEIVERS—Achilles heel of club, mainly because Eddie Hinton and Ray Perkins, who should suffice, sloughed off as primary targets. Rookie Glenn Daughtry, Sam Havrilak threaten to oust them. And they're seriously contemplating regular role for placekicker Jim O'Brien. Rating—C+.

TIGHT END—Amazingly, Tom Mitchell keeps all-timer John Mackey rooted to reserve role. That's how important he's become to Colt offense. Rating—A—.

LINE—John Williams left hole at guard by playing out option. Could shift Don Sullivan back from tackle, advancing touted newcomer Tom Drougas. Or maybe move in John Shinnars, acquired from New Orleans. Otherwise it's a veteran, tested unit, built around Bill Curry at center. Rating—B+.

DEFENSE

LINE—Bubba Smith began to show his awesome qualities last year, finally. If he can conquer unhappiness over contract, he'll make bodies roll. Billy Newsome, alongside him on left side, is building into Bubba's class. Fred Miller, Roy Hilton add the stability of long service, with Jim Bailey ready for more tackle duty after injury siege. Rating—B+.

LINEBACKERS—Probably wouldn't exchange them for any other threesome. Ted Hendrickson, mad stork, even jumped ahead of middle man Mike Curtis on all-pro rosters. Curtis remains the happy headhunter. Roy May on right side has unappreciated range. Rating—A—.

SECONDARY—You start with premier pair of safeties in league, Jerry Logan and Rick Volk. They've been together five seasons, have all the desirable qualities. Charlie Strakes at left corner has become astute pass-grabber. Rex Kern was the surprise of '71, now challenged by Leonard Dunlop, who had job until hurt. Also drafted ex-Oklahoma quarterback Jack Mildren for secondary duty. Rating—B+.

CINCINNATI BENGLALS

thing bad that could hap-

penn seemed to happen to this young club last year.

Still, they're considered one of brightest around for future. Even with 4-10 record they scored more points than they yielded.

Last six games by total of 21 points. Youth movement continues with injection of rookies. Could be the surprise of '72.

Paul Brown

OFFENSE

QUARTERBACK—You can practically write off career of lame-armed Greg Cook. It'll be either astute, gutsy Virgil Carter or strong-armed Ken Anderson at helm. Rating—B.

RUNNING BACKS—Could rotate almost a half dozen backs. Starters by midseason should be Fred Willis, fine rookie last year, and burly Doug Dressler, with Essex Johnson delivering half-game breakthrough thrills. Jess Phillips and Paul Robinson, regulars at start of '71, are potent, too. Rating—B+.

WIDE RECEIVERS—Tall corps to bedevil secondaries with Bob Trumphy (6-6) shifted from tight end to join Chip Myers (6-5), and Speedy Thomas spelling them. Trumphy one of finest in NFL. Rating—B+.

TIGHT END—Development of Bruce Coslet freed Trumphy for wide role. Not spectacular but steady. Sometimes used double tight end set-up with Trumphy for better blocking. Rating—B.

LINE—It's young and developing. Big news this year should be improvement of Rufus Mayes at tackle. He and Vern Holland make pair who could be around for years. Bob Johnson at center is a standout. New man up front is Ohio State's Tom DeLeone, who can be relief man at guard or center. Rating—B.

DEFENSE

LINE—Starting spot already reserved for Sherman White, the top draftee, at end. Will jack up pass rush tremendously. There's already one superlative guy up front in tackle Mike Reid with the piano-playing hands. Steve Chomyszak and Ron Carpenter duelling for other tackle spot. Rating—B.

LINEBACKERS—There's a good one in the middle you don't hear much of, but he's close to Butkus class—Bill Bergey. Ken Avery on one side has been pleasantly steady for couple of years. Rookie named Jim LeClair could eventually squeeze out Bill Peterson or Al Beauchamp for third starting job. Rating—B.

SECONDARY—It's swift, eager and young. Couple of agile corner backs, Lemar Parrish and Ken Riley, are now complemented by Neil Craig, rookie last year, and Tommy Casanova, brilliant newcomer this year, at the safeties. Casanova's a headline maker. Rating—B+.

KICKING—For two years in row, Dave Lewis has been lead punter in NFL (44.8 average in '71), and get long-distance field goals (sometimes erratic on short ones) from Horst Muhlmann, only over-30 man on squad. Rating—A-.

SPECIAL TEAMS—Used to be strongest around, but got burned couple of games last year on coverage. Parrish is fine return man, now joined by Bernard Jackson, rookie in secondary. Rating—B.

PREDICTION

Second in Division. Because Paul Brown, at 64, is eager for that one more title shot.

Placekickers have it 3 yards easier

By BLOYS BRITT
Associated Press Sports Writer

The placekickers are getting better range on the goal posts in pro football—one dividend from a winter rules change that moved in inbound markers three feet further toward mid-field.

The change may not actually have made any difference in distance for National Football League booters, but the angle most certainly is going to be better from close in to the goal posts.

But whether the change has helped or not, the three-point specialists are off to a good start in pre-season games.

The Jan Stenerud of Kansas City as an example. The soccer-type kicker found the range against Los Angeles last week for rifle shots of 37, 40, 57 and 27 yards. The 57-yarder was a new distance for him, his previous best going 55 yards two years ago.

The placekickers will be out in force this weekend for another 13-game, five-day exhibition schedule that opens tonight with the Miami Dolphins (2-2) playing at Washington (3-1).

Baltimore plays Detroit in a nationally televised contest at Tampa, Fla., Friday night.

Seven games are scheduled Saturday, two of them afternoon affairs on college campuses. The New York Giants play the Philadelphia Eagles at Princeton N.J. while the New York Jets meet the Atlanta Falcons on the Georgia Tech campus.

Night games involve the unbeaten Dallas Cowboys at Kansas City, New Orleans and Pittsburgh at Memphis, Los Angeles at San Diego and St. Louis at Green Bay.

In Sunday games, Buffalo visits Chicago, Cincinnati and Cleveland have a neighborhood fuss scheduled at Columbus, and unbeaten Oakland and San Francisco stage their annual Bay Area show at San Francisco.

Houston plays at Minnesota Monday night to close out the next to last exhibition weekend of the pre-season schedule.

Joe Namath is named MD sports chairman

Harry Huson, Arkansas' District Director of the Muscular Dystrophy Associations of America, Inc., announces that football's headline making star, Joe Namath, has been named Sports Chairman of the Jerry Lewis Labor Day Telethon, succeeding Joe Frazier, world's heavyweight boxing champion. The Telethon, which will be televised on KATV, Channel 7, in Little Rock, benefits Muscular Dystrophy Associations of America.

Namath is no stranger to the fight against muscular dystrophy. He has often appeared on Jerry Lewis' Labor Day marathons, and is a special friend of Scotty Swift, MDAA's former national poster boy. A memorable scene on last year's show came when Joe Namath and Jerry Lewis indulged young Scotty with a three-way game of football passing on stage. Persons close to the scene saw tears in Joe's eyes at the sight of the courageous youngster trying his best to cope, and enjoying every minute of it.

The Jerry Lewis Labor Day Telethon Sports Committee, which Joe Namath now chairs, was established in 1970 when the Telethon was seen coast-to-coast for the first time. Founded by Jim Turner, the quarterback with the educated toe, the Committee numbers among its members such greats from the sports field as Tom Seaver, Johnny Unitas, Rocky Graziano, O.J. Simpson, Jack Nicklaus, Sandy Koufax, and Pete Rozelle. Journalists and commentators on its roster include Dick Young, Frank Gifford, Kyle Rote, and Dave Anderson.

The Labor Day Telethon over the past seven years has become America's greatest folk festival involving as it does the entire community with personalities from the world of sports, labor, the theatre, screen, and television. The 20-hour super-spectacular, which has smashed all records in the seven years of its existence, will originate live in New York through the facilities of WNEW-TV, ch. 5, with segments from Hollywood, Las Vegas, and Nashville. Overall producer for the big show is Eric Lieber of Mike Douglas Productions.

MDAA, of which Jerry Lewis is National Chairman, supports some 150 research projects in medical and scientific institutions throughout the world and maintains a network of free clinics throughout the United States.

NEW ENGLAND PATRIOTS

PROSPECTUS — Upton Bell, youngish GM, claims trading title for pro football. Eighty per cent turnover in personnel in 18 months. Only thing he didn't trade was coach (John Mazur) and there's suspicion he might have liked to do that, too. Anyhow, Patriots, on wings of Jim Plunkett, have turned around. Some hopes they can switch last year's 6-8 record to 8-6.

John Mazur

OFFENSE

QUARTERBACK—Only matter of time before young Plunkett is best. Unless injury intervenes, he'll play every second on offense. Probably pick a vet off waiver lists for back-up. Rating—A-.

RUNNING BACKS—Emphasis away from ruggedness. Will use backs more as receivers. Carl Garrett is ideal racehorse type for that style of deployment. Other spot up for grabs by Odell Lawson or rookie Josh Ashton. Rating—B-.

WIDE RECEIVERS—Little Randy Vataha a revelation. Can he catch 51 again under increased pressure? Big hopes for rookie Tom Reynolds from that reservoir of wide receivers, San Diego State. Hubie Bryant, Reggie Rucker will get lots of action, too. Rating—B.

DEFENSE

LINE—Well pleased with progress. Tigerish at end spots with Julius Adams and Jim White, latter a repatriate from Canada who could be fastest big man around. Dave Rowe sure of one tackle spot. Dennis Wirgowski, Rich Cash battling for other job. Improved pass rush certain. Rating—B.

LINEBACKERS—Getting rid of flaky Steve Kiner posed outside problem. Either Jim Cheyurski or Jim Flanigan (ex-New Orleans) can handle middle with dispatch. But looks like they're stuck with a couple of rookies, Dick Blanchard and Ken Price, on the corners, unless trade produces someone else. Rating—C+.

TIGHT END—Now Plunkett has someone to look to in clutch situations. Bob Windsor, ex-49er, is an accredited pro, classy in all departments. Tom Bear behind him for blocking support. Rating—B+.

PREDICTION

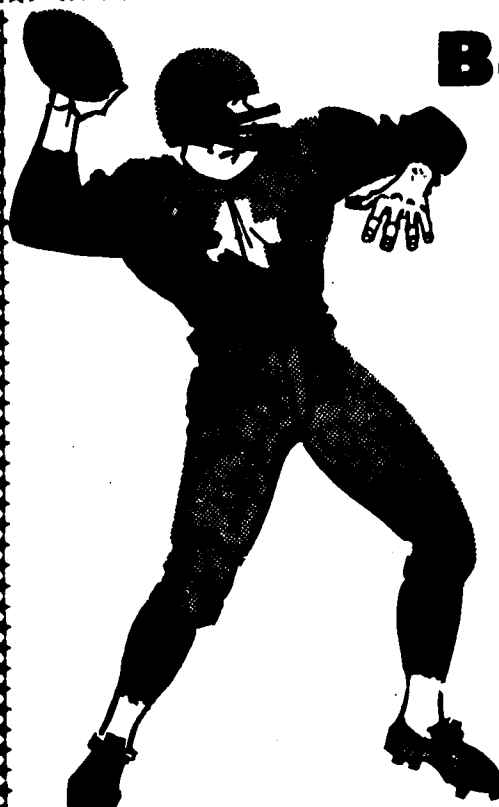

Fifth in Division. Hard to see where they rate more than a notch higher (could beat out Buffalo).
